Footlights to light up town this weekend

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Expect crowds this weekend in Antioch. The 14th Annual Footlights opens on Friday at St. Peter School.

"This is our 14th year," said Linda Pederson, one of the Footlights coordinators. "It brings in a lot of money for the school."

While hard to describe, Footlights is one of Antioch's biggest events of the fall. It is 10 rooms of music, dancing, singing, dining, gambling, comedy, acting, and just plain fun. For the price of admission, visitors can enjoy as many shows as time permits and the shows run continuously all night long.

Both professional and local talent highlight the event.

New this year is the Country and Western Room, Dan's Hoe Down Jamboree. Live music provided by Exit South will keep dancers "in line." And, for those who have never tried line dancing, instructors will be available.

Return to the days of the Pharaohs in Tut's Tomb. The music of Grease and Lost Childhood will be rocking the pyramids all night.

Pete's Street Diner will offer 1950s drive-in style food and atmosphere. Blue plate specials as well as Pete's meatloaf, turkey platter, and more will remind diners taste buds of a kinder, gentler time. Food at Pete's will be catered by Maravelas.

Another new room this year will be Company C. Musical talents of Lloyd Pederson, Jane Miles, Donna Shehorn, and Jeff Smith will make you believe you are back "in the army now" with their tunes of the 1940s.

Miles is a former music teacher with a B.S. in music education from the University of Illinois. She has performed in musical revues and theater in Dubuque, Iowa and Galena. She has also done summer stock at Timber Lake Playhouse before moving to Antioch. Locally, she has performed many times at PM&L Theater, Bowen Park Opera. See FOOTLIGHTS page A14Quiet school

For a change of pace, Antioch voters will not be facing any referendum issues on Tuesday. Only school board candidates will be on the ballot this election period, and, some school districts have uncontested races.

Antioch Community High School District 117 has six candidates for three open spots. School board candidates are: Edward Koziorowski, Sandy Jacobs, Joe Kane, Donald E. Mertic, Fred Fettingier III, and Kathy Werchek.

The only other opposed school board race is in District 34. Three board spots are open and four candidates have come forward. Mike Perrone, Steven M. Turner, Jody Colatrino and Roy P. Bolin are hoping to be elected.

Explorers help save the day at Halloween HowlMARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Explorer Post helped save last weekend's Halloween Howl by providing information leading to the arrest of Hank A. Knackstedt, 25, of Antioch.

The Explorer Post was on duty early Saturday morning when they observed a man walk into a Halloween Howl display, tear down some plastic sheeting, and throw it to the ground. They promptly contacted police by radio and gave officers a complete description of the perpetrator.

Police arrested Knackstedt, who admitted to being in the area.

The Explorers, 12 strong at this time, volunteer their time and effort to help out the community. Parades, the Taste of Antioch, and many other Antioch community events find the Explorers out in force.

The group includes young people from the ages of 14 to 21. "Normally, it is kids with an interest in police work," said Detective Craig Somerville who leads up the post.

Both boys and girls in the post receive training from the Antioch Police Department. The Explorers can be found directing traffic and responding to motor vehicle accidents.

"We provide them with training," said Somerville. "They learn about what it is like to be a police officer, both the bad and the good."

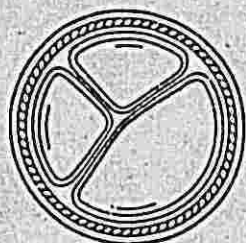

Training includes many aspects of police work, although the young people do not get involved in investigations or confidential materials. "They are getting hands on training," said Somerville.

The Explorers receive training on how to handle a traffic accident. See EXPLORERS page A10

Chamber, CAN look at consolidating

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

A course has been set that likely will result in the consolidation of Community Action Now (CAN) and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Chamber President Bob Mueller reported at a first ever morning member meeting that a task force with membership from both organizations has recommended that a study of consolidation proceed.

Mueller said at the meeting held at Best Western Regency Inn that there is much to be gained by gaining unity and a larger membership base. Two task force members, Jim Heryerdahl and Larry Hanson, attended the morning meeting.

CAN was organized five years ago to revitalize Antioch downtown business district. One of CAN's accomplishments was paving the way for the village establishing the full-time office of director of development.

The morning meeting featured activity reports from officers and directors.

First vice president Karen Dunham reported that Taste of Antioch grossed $100,000 in ticket sales for a four-day event that attracted many out-of-town visitors.

Larry Mondie, a director, said the Halloween Howl was designed for the enjoyment of Antioch residents and giving strangers an opportunity to "find out where Antioch is."

Chamber Secretary Barbara Porch listed internal accomplishments as arranging shopper parking with the village board and establishment of a new newsletter format.

Treasurer DeeDee Palmer reported that all is in readiness for the Santa Parade Nov. 24 and kick-off of Antioch's Christmas observance which will follow a traditional Yule theme.

Don Mosher of the board, who chaired two golf outings, invited members to provide input on all activities. "We want to hear from you," Mosher declared.

Some candidates run unopposed

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Candidates in two Antioch school districts are virtual shoe-ins. Grass Lake School District 36 and Emmons School District 33 both have "just enough" candidates for the board openings.

Grass Lake School District has four openings this November. Two incumbents have decided to return to the board: Marie Brausam and Linda Boerman. Brausam is currently the board vice president and Boerman is the board secretary. Newcomer Douglas Schreiber has also decided to run for one of the open spots. The district has a write-in candidate, Fran Terry-Adelizzi.

Emmons School District has three openings on the board, with three candidates on deck. Barbara Comstock has thrown her hat into the ring along with Dolores Schmelzer. Comstock has been very active with the school and is past president of the PTO organization. Incumbent Bruce Dille, the current board president, has decided to seek reelection.

Phillip "Stan" Livermore has been appointed to replace a resigning Emmons board member. Livermore is a familiar sight with his involvement in many Antioch activities as well as his True Value store. He will replace Janet Quist, who resigned her post late last summer.

At Antioch Consolidated School District 34, which includes W.C. Petty School, Antioch Upper

Grade School, Antioch Grade School, and Oakland, three openings are available. Incumbents Mike Perrone and Steve Turner have put their petitions in. Also, newcomers Jody Colatrino and Roy Bolin have filed.

Jody L. Colatrino has thrown her hat into the ring to become a member of the Antioch Consolidated School District 34 Board of Education. A Lake County resident since 1977, Colatrino formerly served on the Emmons Grade School District Board of Education from 1989 to 1991.

School bus drivers still edgy

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

School bus drivers in Antioch, as well as all over Lake County, were affected by last week's school bus-train accident in Fox River Grove. Even after a week, the memory seems to be fresh and painful to both drivers and parents of students as well.

"There is still some concern," said District 34 bus service manager Larry Schumacker. "Something that traumatic..."

With over 80 miles of road, the Antioch District 34 bus service logs a lot of time on the highways. Along the way there are several railroad crossings, some of which, do not even have crossing gates.

Schumacker said the district's drivers continue to strictly follow rail crossing guidelines. "We stop, open the window, open the door and we listen," he said. "We try to get the kids quiet so we can listen for the horn."

District 34's route has drivers as far west as Theleus Gravel, east to Hunt Club Road and as far south as Lindenhurst. "We have 31 buses on the road everyday," said Schumacker.

BRIEFS

New garden club

The newly formed Antioch Garden Club will meet at 7 p.m. on the first Monday of every month. The meetings will be held at the Antioch Village Community Building, 884 Main Street. The program for Nov. 6 will be presented by Lasco's Florist on flower arranging. The December program will be a "make and take" holiday decoration. For more information call 395-3803.

Antioch Senior Center Bazaar

The Antioch Senior Center will be holding its annual Bazaar on Wed., Nov. 8, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Included at the bazaar will be a white elephant sale, Christmas crafts, a raffle, bake sale, and free coffee. The public is encouraged to attend.

Toys for Tots

The Antioch VFW Post 4551 will be accepting new, unwrapped toys for the Marine Reserve's Toys for Tots program again this year. The drop-off site is at the Post, 75 North Avenue in Antioch. The Post is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon. For more information call 395-5393.

Six vie for ACHS seats

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The six candidates for the Antioch Community High School Board of Education were to face off Thursday night at a candidates forum at the school. There are three spots open on the board this election period. Three of the candidates are from Antioch and the other three are from Lake Villa. Candidates Fred Fettinger, Joe Kane, and Donald Mertic live in Lake Villa, while Ed Kozirowski, Sandy Jacobs and Kathy Werchek are from Antioch. School District 117 includes students from Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst.

Donald Mertic is the Chief Executive Officer for the Central Baptist Children's Home. Mertic was a member of the Committee of Ten, which organized the movement towards the proposed Lake Villa unit district plan.

"I realize the voters have spoken on that subject," Mertic said of the unit plan. "But, something needs to be done."

Mertic said no matter where he has lived he has been actively involved with children's issues. In addition, he has been involved with ACHS since he moved to the area. "I have been very active in the school," he said.

Candidate Ed Kozirowski is fairly well known in the community. He is a former Village of Antioch trustee, and served in 1989 and 1990. Kozirowski is a member of the Antioch Planning and Zoning Board.

"Something has to be done," said Kozirowski regarding his reasons for running, "for the education of our kids. I'd like to see the options first hand."

Kozirowski has been very involved with ACHS and is currently serving as president of Sequoit Pride. Kozirowski has a daughter who will be a senior at ACHS this year. He is also a former member of Better Education Sensible Taxes (BEST).

Sandy Jacobs, a 20-year resident of Antioch, taught school for 10 years in Wauconda. She has two children in the lower grades.

"I am concerned for my daughter that she gets a good education," Jacobs said. "There are some districts that spend $4,000 and $5,000 per kid while some districts spend $3,400 per student and do a better job educating their kids."

Candidate Joseph Kane is a 17 year resident of the area. He has four children, with one child entering ACHS this year. His background includes both education and information technology.

"I worked six to seven years in the education and treatment of children at Allendale," said Kane. He currently manages a software development team at Hewitt and Associates.

Kane said the reason he decided to throw his hat into the ring was his continuing interest in education, particularly at ACHS. "The issues have interested me for a long time," he said.

Fred Fettinger III of Lake Villa is also running for board member. Fettinger, a resident of 35 years, has two children. Fettinger is an ACHS graduate and received a degree in mathematics from Bradley University.

Fettinger is the principal of an independent business consulting practice specializing in computers and information services. He actively supports computer instructional programs at W.C. Petty School, Antioch Upper Grade and ACHS.

The sixth candidate, Kathy Werchek has lived in Antioch for eight years. She has five sons and is very involved with area youth. Both Werchek and her husband coach Lindenhurst soccer and they are hoping for a foster child placement.

"I have a long term vested interest in ACHS," said Werchek. "ACHS has had their share of problems and I have many concerns about its future."

For six years, Werchek was a general contractor. She feels, now she has the time to devote to the school board.

Dog abuser convicted of crime

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Five months after being found in a Grayslake apartment, Rusty the Doberman is healthy and her owner will pay for his crime of aggravated animal cruelty after his conviction in a three-hour bench trial.

According to prosecuting Assistant Lake County Attorney Greg Nikitas, Thornton was convicted of abusing his malnourished puppy, who was discovered by Grayslake Police Officer David Sprague in inch-deep feces and urine in a small cage. The septic condition had begun rotting the animal's paws.

Thornton's attorney argued his client had only missed feeding the animal one day due to a misunderstanding. While Thornton was out of town, his brother took care of the pet. When Thornton experienced car trouble on his return, the one-day hold up resulted in his dog missing one day of care.

The judge believed the estimates of the prosecution's expert veterinarian, who said it would take at least three to four days for the dog's cage to reach the septic state in which it was found. In fact, the expert estimated Rusty had been neglected for up to seven days because the dog has lost two thirds of its body weight.

After both sides rested, Judge George Bridges took roughly 30 minutes to reach his decision.

Thornton faces up to a year in prison and a $1,000 fine for the class A misdemeanor. His sentencing is set for 1:30 p.m., Nov. 29, in Room C405 in the County building in Waukegan.

Rusty, who is in the care of Lake County Animal Control in Mundelein, has recovered fully from her deprived state and weighs more than 40 pounds.

Cream with his coffee

Brian W. Stroud, 34, of Antioch, was arrested for disorderly conduct on Oct. 28. Stroud allegedly went into the Antioch Speedway Gas Station and poured coffee on the floor. According to witnesses, he then added cream and sugar, and then spit on the mess. When police arrested Stroud for disorderly conduct, he told police he couldn't remember. He was taken to Lake County Jail after police discovered an outstanding warrant and he was unable to make bond.

Elderly woman gets DUI

Lorraine G. Talbert, 71 of Trevor, Wisconsin was arrested on Oct. 24 for driving under the influence of alcohol. Police stopped her after she disobeyed a traffic signal. Talbert tested a .19 on the breathalyzer test. She was released on bond.

Criminal damage to property

Christine E. Kotwica, 22, of Antioch was arrested and charged with criminal damage to property on Oct. 26. Kotwica allegedly broke a fire extinguisher in an apartment building and emptied the contents. She was released on bond.

Refused to give name

Glenn L. C. Cantrell, 17, of Trevor, Wisconsin, was arrested on Oct. 28 for obstructing a police officer. Cantrell was not wearing a seatbelt in a car which was stopped for speeding. Cantrell allegedly gave a false name to officers. He was released on bond.

Charges add up in sex abuse case

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

A Gurnee man arrested for criminal sexual abuse may have more charges placed against him as more victims are coming forward.

Kenneth Kozak, 32, 4312 Centennial Court, was arrested on Oct. 26 on aggravated criminal sexual abuse charges. He was released on a $7,500 bond. However, Round Lake Beach Police are developing more information against him.

"He has extremely large collections of photographs and albums of prepubescent children," said Commander John Laycock.

According to police reports, Kozak had sexual relations with an 18-year-old Round Lake Beach woman three years ago.

Information was developed by Officer Greg Vanco and given to the Round Lake Beach detective bureau.

"Alleged victims have been contacting the Round Lake Beach Police Department," Laycock said.

Police alleged Kozak had transposed pictures with children's faces and put them on adult pornographic pictures.

Kozak also reportedly picked up girls in his car at the Round Lake Beach lakefront. He allegedly would lure them by promising to buy them ice cream.

Kozak was arrested by Gurnee, Grayslake and Round Lake Beach police on Oct. 26. He was placed in Cencom jail for a day and was sent to bond court on Oct. 27.

He formerly worked for a Round Lake Beach water bed store. He also had several pictures of Kenosha girls as well, according to police.

If anyone has any information about this suspect, they are urged to call Round Lake Beach Police at 546-2127.

It's annual bazaar time at the Antioch Senior Center

Well, our wild and crazy senior citizens of Antioch are at it again. They are holding their Annual Bazaar on Wednesday, Nov. 8 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. (that way, they can all get home in time to take a little cat nap before Jeopardy comes on). The bazaar will have a White Elephant Sale—maybe you'll find something for your grandchildren; Christmas crafts—maybe you'll find a little something for your daughter-in-law; raffles—maybe you'll win an exciting prize; and even a bake sale—finally, we've reached the important stuff.

Actually, it sounds like an all around one-stop shop. Of course, all the hometown folks are welcomed and what a better way to see the Senior Center. I hear Paul Howard, the coordinator, is even giving tours of the place—what a guy! The best part is, and don't let McDonald's hear about this, they will be serving FREE coffee all day! So grab your Christmas shopping list and head over to the Senior Center (it's behind the fire station) to do a little Ho, Ho, Ho-ing with Paul and all his busy little elves.

It's your duty

This is just to remind everyone that next Tuesday, Nov. 7, is voting day. Now granted, most of us are not qualified voters, registered, maybe, but not really qualified. We see a referendum and we vote "no" because that means our taxes go up, we see a familiar name and we vote "yes" even though we don't know anything about their capacity to be a good resource. Let's face it, most of us are oblivious to the issues, the candidates, and the procedures. Basically, all we know is where our polling place is and our last name. Should we even be allowed to vote? Is it any wonder the country is running amuck?

Some people don't vote because they feel incompetent, others don't vote because they feel the candidates are incompetent. But voting is an American privilege and we should all act responsibly and do our part, with a little research we can clear up some of those gray areas. After all, voting is painless, free, and in some cases your boss may let you come in late or go home early so you can hit the polling place.

Whenever or however you vote, turn in your ballot, and slap that "I Voted Today" sticker on your coat, jacket, or forehead and wear it proudly, because you did more than the majority of your fellow Americans.

Footlights story

I decided not to bombard you with "Footlights" information here. It's not that I don't enjoy the annual spectacular, I just figured with their competent publicity people, anybody who lives in the surrounding nine counties knows all about the great extravaganza. I do however have a tale to tell about "Footlights" involving two people known well around town: The Old Retired Lizard and Dan Tybor. It seems The Old One received a mailing building up the potential fun going to be happening at Footlights Number 14.

Being the astute line dancer that The Old One thinks she is, she winged in on the Footlights attraction "Dan's Hoe Down Jamboree." Thinking the "Dan" referred to Dan Tybor, she immediately called him—probably to give him a few dance step pointers. Well, she was surprised to find the "Dan" was not Dan Tybor at all, but Dan Dugenske of Strang's Funeral Home.

We all know how The Old One loves to ramble on when given an audience, so she proceeded to make know to Dan Tybor about her good friend from Chicago who lives to line dance and had plans to come up to Footlights to do some shufflin' and stompin'. Dan happened to inquire as to whether or not this would happen to be "Sylvia From The City" made famous by herself and "Jingle from Pringle?"

The Old One assured him she was one and the same. Dan, slightly winded at the prospects of meeting such a celebrity, replied: "I'll have to bring one of her feature columns and have her autograph it!" Can you believe that? I don't want to toot my own horn here, but I'm a little miffed. After all, I do all the work and Sylvia gets all the glory.

Hey, Dan, you never asked me to autograph one of my columns for you and it even has a picture of me—such as it is. All I have to say is, Sylvia, if you start making any money on your fame, I know a real good publicity agent! Autograph indeed.

Birthday time

There are some birthdays going on this month that need some special attention. First, my deceased mom would have been celebrating her birthday this month. Every year me and the grandkids take a small cake out to "grandma's garden" at the cemetery and sing a chorus of Happy Birthdays. It's kind of odd but it's rather a tradition. It's not like we wear party hats or bring gifts or anything, but it's our own little tribute to a great lady—besides, mom loved cake!

Then we have my father-in-law, Bill Pringle, who will be reaching a major milestone on his time line of life. Let's just say come the first of the year the man will be packing his golf clubs and heading south on a permanent vacation—so he hopes. There is just one minor technicality that has to be worked out before he can go, but nonetheless, Happy Birthday, Dad.

Now read the following names carefully and if you happen to see any of these birthday people around town this month, be sure and wish them a Happy Birthday. Nicole Adelizzi, Laurie Cheterbok, Thomas Dvorak, Ed Harrison, Eric Horvath, Ricky Klean, Sarah Komperda, Elizabeth Lass, Cindy Marquart, Walter Martens Jr., Kirstin Petykowski, Timmy (The Tool Man) Runyard, Jim Schmehl Jr., Karen Schmehl, Amber Schmitt, and Danny Tybor. Happy, happy!

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

Antioch merchants plan '12 Days Of Christmas'

GLORIA DAVIS

Staff Reporter

The Christmas shopping season will see an early start in the Village of Antioch this year with the village's merchants planning on a special "12 Days of Christmas" shopping celebration.

According to Barbara Porch, retail representative for the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, "This special early shopping celebration will start on Nov. 11. It's a seven-week program sponsored by the merchants, the community and the village."

As part of this program, local merchants will be offering special savings discounts and free gift wrapping.

Vivian Maplethorp, chamber representative, reports the Village of Antioch will officially open the Christmas season when Santa arrives in town on the Friday after Thanksgiving, Nov. 24.

The Christmas Parade will start at 6:30 p.m. and proceed down Main St. Santa, the star of the parade, will turn on the lights on the trees at the village hall and then travel a block away to open Santa's Castle for the holiday season.

From that evening on, Santa's Castle will be open to welcome visits from the children of the area every weekday evening from 5:30 to 8 p.m. and on all the Saturdays and Sundays before Christmas from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Carriage rides around downtown Antioch will begin on weekends starting on Nov. 24 and continue through Dec. 17. Certificates for a free carriage ride for the entire family will be handed out by local merchants with a $25 purchase.

Merchants will also be giving out free Antioch shopping bags.

Refreshments will be served throughout the program. The Antioch Methodist Church will sponsor a "Cookie Walk" at the church on Dec. 2. There will also be Christmas Carols playing on loud speakers on the streets downtown.

This program, and Nov. 24 Santa's Arrival will all be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Village and CAN (Community Action Now.)

The Antioch Chamber is located in the Moose Lodge at 884 Main St. The Chamber meets every fourth Tuesday. The next meeting is slated at the Moose Lodge on Nov. 28. The Chamber Office, manned by Maplethorp, is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays.

Moose members enjoy fund raiser

On Oct. 7 the Women of the Moose Publicity Committee held their "Nite at the Races" fund raiser. Helen Galetti, chairman, thanked Ann Byczek for running the event. She is grateful to the committee members that assisted that evening, Ruth Gussarson, Nancy Keisler, Diana Manders, Jo Litwin, Shirley McIntire, Estelle Gatch, Ceil Hojem, Elaine Zeman, Vicki Schweiss, Barbara Seelhoff, Mary Hapner, and Katherine Alberts.

Special thanks, also to Gary Inman, Wayne Solomen, and Bruce Braynard for their help that night and to Richard Glanc for pre-event computer assistance, also Kim Chase and Mary Busch, and all those who provided craft and other raffle items.

At the October meeting, Geri Marks, Patty Vos, Helen Galetti, Dorothy Laursen and Litwin received small gifts during the birthday march from Senior Regent Pat Serwa, and "Co-worker of the Month" honor was bestowed on Vicki Schweiss. The Academy of Friendship award was presented to Kim Chase. Treats were served by Mooseheart Chairman Shirley Turney and committee member, Phyllis Drije.

Learn about foster parenting

People who are committed to making a difference in the community, have room in their home and heart for a child and can work as a team member are invited to learn more about foster parenting. An informational meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 15 at 7 p.m. at Catholic Charities, 116 N. Lincoln Ave. in Round Lake.

During a child's stay in a foster home, Catholic Charities provides support and services to the child and the foster parents. Foster parents of all religious, ethnic and racial backgrounds are needed. For meeting registration or more information about foster parenting, call Caroline Jakubowski at 249-3500.

MOPS, a playgroup with a difference

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Mothers of Preschoolers (MOPS) is a playgroup for both moms and preschoolers. The group meets once a month at the Antioch Evangelical Free Church.

"Unlike many other mom and tot groups, where the tots play together and the moms cooperatively attempt to watch the little ones, the goal of MOPS is to give the moms a break from their children," said June Pimpo of MOPS. "We provide skilled childcare for the children while the moms do a craft, chat with old and new friends, and get some good advice from moms who have 'been there.'"

The group meets on the second Tuesday of each month from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Moms with children from infancy to kindergarten age are invited to attend.

"With so many moms in the '90s trading their careers for being a full-time mom, there is a great need for support for these ladies," explains Pimpo. "MOPS International has a heart for any mom whether she works outside the home or not."

Encouraging a young mom and meeting her needs helps her be capable of meeting the needs of her preschool child."

MOPS in Antioch is part of MOPS International. It is a non-denominational non-profit organization with more than 1,000 groups meeting nationwide.

The first MOPS group met in 1972. It is an outreach ministry to all mothers of preschoolers. In Antioch, the MOPS has been active since 1987.

The organization publishes a book, "What Every Mom Needs," along with various pamphlets, and training videos. The group also sponsors a radio broadcast, Mom Sense, which can be heard on approximately 430 radio stations around the country.

"We moms who are involved in the group feel MOPS is a fun and refreshing group to belong to," said Pimpo. "We welcome any new mom to join in on the fun."

Any mother of preschoolers is invited to attend. The program is in operation September through May. The $5 fee includes crafts and childcare. For more information call 395-4117.

Battle to save Medicare far from over

The battle to save Medicare from bankruptcy is far from over, but the House of Representatives has taken a big step towards solving Medicare problems. Medicare legislation passed the House 231 to 201, with only six Republicans voting against the bill, while only four Democrats voted for it.

The bill would save $270 billion over seven years and move Congress in the direction of balancing the budget. Most of the savings would be achieved by capping the rates of growth in payments to doctors and hospitals.

Our political opponents claim we are cutting Medicare. Nothing could be more distant from the truth. We are not cutting Medicare, we are slowing the rate of its growth.

Under our bill, per beneficiary Medicare spending increases from $4,800 this year to $6,700 in 2002, and total Medicare spending increases 54 percent to $274 billion in 2002. Seniors' portion of Part B premiums will remain pegged to the current rate of 31.5 percent of the program's cost per beneficiary. Co-payments and deductibles will not be increased. Does that sound like a cut in spending?

The bill gives seniors the chance to choose from a range of options, including health maintenance organizations, preferred provider networks and medical savings accounts. Private sector insurance plans will be allowed to develop in the market.

Seniors will be allowed to choose their own doctors.

Health care crimes including fraud, embezzlement, bribery, making false statements and accepting kickbacks become federal offenses.

Everyone said that tackling Medicare's most serious problems was walking into a political minefield. But Republicans accepted their responsibility as elected officials and moved to save the program from bankruptcy, even if at great political risk.

One-man pumpkin show in Antioch

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Ron Harmon of Antioch really gets involved in Halloween. And, he has spent an estimated 18 hours carving pumpkins to prove it.

"They are quite elaborate," said Kim Harmon, his wife. "He sends for the patterns every year."

The intricate lacy patterns he cuts are very delicate. "We can only light them for a couple of hours because they are so fragile," said Harmon.

Ron Harmon has been creating Halloween art for six years now. Former residents of Lindenhurst, the family is accustomed to having government officials stopping by to see the creations.

This year, the family was host to the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and neighbors that came to admire the pumpkins. It has almost become a neighborhood event with the Harmons serving apple cider to their guests. "We have it for the neighbors," said Kim.

Ron Harmon had help this year on the carvings. His daughter, Laura, 14 years old, assisted him in the pumpkin creations. "They were working for a long time," Kim explained.

A wolf, trick or treaters, a cliff with pine trees are only a few of the artistic offerings this year.

Forest preserve district receives award

The highest form of recognition for state and local government accounting and financial reporting was recently awarded to the Lake County Forest Preserve District. The Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA), presented a Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting to the District for their fiscal year 1994 comprehensive annual financial report.

The attainment of this award represents a significant accomplishment by a government and its management. The Forest Preserves met the high standards of the GFOA program, and was selected as a recipient for the award by a panel of judges looking for an organization's ability to clearly communicate its financial story. The GFOA is a non-profit professional association serving over 12,000 government finance professionals.

Antioch High Schools team of Ryan Smith, Ed Pleese and Matt Fleming operate their remote vehicle at Chicago Best competition.

Academic competition promotes excellence

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff reporter

Friends, parents, teachers and volunteers gathered around the playing field to cheer on Lake County students participating in a unique competition at Waukegan High School.

Antioch High School's team came in second in the Chicago BEST competition against five other teams.

Highland Park High School came in at first place, Hoffman Estates third and the Lake County Technology Campus placed fourth.

The top four teams are eligible to advance to the championship face off against Texas schools on November 10 at Texas A&M University.

The object of the competition was to design and build a remote controlled vehicle to compete against the other teams in a sports like obstacle course.

The object of the course was to use the vehicle to retrieve long foam Noodles and place them in their positive scoring area or in their opponent's negative scoring area. They also had to defend their positive scoring area from the opponent.

Students worked with mentors for a six-week period to design and build the vehicles.

The competition is designed to promote interest in math, science and technology. This is the first year a competition of this type has been held in Illinois.

It is based on the national contest called US FIRST. The mission of US FIRST is to help reverse the decline of science and math skills for American students.

Jerry Bishop, the Director of Training and Development for the Lake County Technology Campus, says the contest was funded this year by the State Board of Education, because they felt it was important to the schools.

"This competition exposes students to the application of what they learn in school," said Bishop. "A student that excels academically may not excel at this competition."

Students signed up to compete without knowing what the game design would be. Each team received the instructions and an identical parts kit from which their remote controlled vehicles were built on Sept. 16.

They worked on the projects an average of two to three evenings a week for six weeks to build their vehicles.

"The understandings of how a machine works and to develop skills such as problem solving and being able to organize a team of people to see a project through," according to Bishop are the keys to success in the competition.

Chicago BEST is a partnership between students, schools, mentors corporations, government and other volunteers that come together to make the competition a reality.

Parents urged to help stop gangs

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Apathy. That is what gang members are counting on. They fill in the void created by families who don't take an active role in their children's lives.

Only six people attended a meeting which delved into how gangs recruit and how to help prevent gang membership. All recommended parents get more involved with their kids and discourage negative behaviors that lead to gang involvement.

"People come up to us and say 'here, you do something with them,' said Sgt. Tom Woodruff of Grayslake Police. "It's not my job to parent them."

"We need to start with the parents and not so many things with the kids," said Louise Loud, who heads Hulse juvenile detention center for Lake County.

Loud feels parents need to take control of their homes. She related as one of 13 children she had to share everything and nothing was "hers."

"Parents need to say 'we are not doing this to hurt you. We are doing this to protect you,'" Loud said.

Suggestions include going into your children's room and seeing what is in there. Go to meetings, get educated on gang colors and gang signs. When children buy an expensive item such as a gold chain or expensive shoes, question how they could afford these items.

Sometimes drastic action is necessary. Lake Villa Sgt. Roger Visconti related his experience with his son. He had divorced his wife and she became ill. He took custody of his son.

"I found the gold and the red clothing in my son's dresser. I took the clothes and burned them in the backyard. My son and I got into a fight over it, but it helped him change," Visconti said.

Lindenhurst Commander Larry Miller said he went to a home where the son had shot holes in the wall and his parents weren't aware of the damage.

These people were gathered as a panel to discuss how gangs are impacting their communities and Lake County in general. This was a meeting of Community Outreach Uniting Residents Against Gang Environment (COURAGE). The organization combines Antioch, Grayslake, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst taking a zero tolerance approach to gang involvement.

Loud emphasized he has seen very few hard core gang members. She said many of the youth she sees aren't aware of what they are getting into until it's too late.

"They come to us and they find out they are going to be in prison until they are 35. I see the look in their eyes 'how could I get messed up in this,'" Loud said.

All of the panel members agreed the gangs have become the status symbol for these teens. They feel they are in charge and don't have to listen to anybody.

"We are in control. We call all the shots," Loud said of their mind set.

Visconti said he has on many occasions told teens they can't press charges against their parents because their parents may have entered their rooms.

Loud presented an example of a 13-year-old who went to school with a gun. She said the child didn't want to hurt anybody, but he "wanted to be accepted."

The officers explained their efforts at controlling gangs and discouraging youth from gang involvement revolve around making it difficult for them to operate.

Officers follow known gang members. They make arrests. Miller said the police department spends time outside known gang homes to discourage the activity. Both Miller and Visconti said traffic arrests also serve as a deterrent.

Officers encouraged parents who are having trouble with teens to seek help early before the youth becomes part of a gang.

Relating to problems in their respective communities. Visconti said many of Lake Villa's problems stem from gang members who rent in apartments. Miller said there is lot of graffiti in the business district. He added it is removed before people are aware of it.

Woodruff said some of the problems come from school. He said many children from Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, and Round Lake Beach go to the same high schools.

The officers credited COURAGE with providing a positive alternative for teens.

"It gives them something to keep them busy. When they aren't busy they can get into trouble," Woodruff said.

Halloween Howl a hit with kids Races

The 2nd Annual Halloween Howl was a hit this year. And, the weather was much improved over last year's event.

Ghosts, goblins, Power Rangers, Batmans, Supermans, clowns and more converged on the Village of Antioch for the two-day event. The young and old visited the haunted hallways, stood by the huge bonfire and listened to storytelling. A costume contest was also held.

Winners of the contest were, in the age 1-6 category, Casey

McGuire as Captain Hook, Jacob Manad as a scarecrow, and Megan McKinny as a butterfly.

In the age 7 to 12 category, the winners were Linsey Yates as a court jester, Bonnie Henning as a pumpkin, and Amanda Gillis as a mummy.

Winners in the age 13 and up category were Lisa Gillis as a doctor, Gregory Dinklinberg as a bum, and Sarah Ester as a witch.

From page A1 there are three openings and three candidates: Dolores E. Schmelzer, Barbara Comstock, and Bruce J. Dille.

At Grass Lake School there are four spots open, three listed candidates, and one write-in candidate. The ballot will show Linda Boerman, Douglas A. Schreiber, and Marie Brausam. The write-in candidate is Fran Terry-Adelizzi.

'Trick' lands youth in jail

It may have been a trick, but it was definitely not a treat that caused the arrest of Phillip Ortman, 17, of Antioch. Ortman was charged with disorderly conduct Tuesday night.

According to police, some young children rang the doorbell at Ortman's residence for trick or treating. Witnesses said Ortman came to the front window wearing only his underwear, turned his back to the window, and "dropped his shorts."

"These were small kids," said Antioch Police Deputy Chief Charles Watkins.

Fortunately, the children's mother accompanied the youngsters and called police. Police went to Ortman's home and arrested him. He was released on bond.

Watkins believes it is important a parent or responsible adult go with young children on Halloween. "It never hurts to go with your young children," he said.

Explorers—

From page A1 scene. After several classroom settings, the young people actually work a simulated traffic accident.

"They actually work it," said Somerville. Officers videotape the simulated accident and then the Explorers go back into the classroom to critique their performance.

"The kids are used for special details," said Somerville. "Parade duty, keeping things safe."

The young people wear military-like uniforms while on duty. However, Somerville is quick to point out the uniforms do not look like police uniform, to avoid any confusion. The Explorers do not carry weapons or handcuffs. Instead, they often have radios to allow them to call police when necessary.

The Post is open to boys and girls ages 14 to 21. Those over 21 can join as advisor. The group meets every other Tuesday. Many of the young people go on to a career in law enforcement.

Any teen interested in joining should call the Antioch Police Department for more information. The Post does not just accept everyone. "We are into quality, not quantity," said Somerville. "We look for kids who are obedient to their parents and work hard in school. We don't just take anybody."

Former Antioch football star breaks record at St. Ambrose

While former Antioch High football standout Mike Warren is capturing the limelight with the Northwestern Wildcats, Tom Furlan, another former Sequoit standout, is breaking records for St. Ambrose University.

Furlan was part of the barrage of big pass plays St. Ambrose unleashed against Nebraska Wesleyan for a 47-10 victory. It was homecoming last weekend at the Davenport, Iowa, private college.

Furlan caught two touchdown passes during the aerial assault. His first went for 17 yards, while his second was a 93 yarder to set a new school record at St. Ambrose for the longest touchdown reception. It broke the old school record of 91 yards set in 1948.

The 6'2", 185-pound wide receiver caught the record-setting pass as a tightend.

"Coach (Todd) Sturdy called all the right plays today," Furlan told the Quad-City Times. "I lined up at tightend—the first time I was used in that in alignment—and it was just a speed-and-go pattern."

Furlan added, "That wasn't a dive I made to the end zone to score on the one touchdown. It was a plunge to the end zone..."

Furlan, a transfer student from Eastern Illinois University, is a sophomore at St. Ambrose. He is the son of Tom and Carol Furlan of Antioch.

Gantt makes bid for state

One month after returning to cross country races, Jason Gantt is heading to the state meet.

The Grayslake High senior clocked a 15 minutes, 27 seconds in the sectional meet at Schaumburg's Busse Woods. He finished tied for seventh place.

"It was a tremendous effort. He had the fastest mile to start a race with a 5:03. The last mile was 4:59 for his best time of 15:27," Rams Coach Joel Peebles said.

Gantt will be the first Grayslake boys runner in 20 years at the state meet, Nov. 4 at Peoria.

Gantt continued to close the gap on area rival Andrew Willgress and Waukegan's Calvin Garth. He was 30 seconds, then 11 and now 4 seconds behind the Libertyville standout and Garth finished fifth, two seconds ahead of Gantt.

"The course is a mile with a loop and up and downhill. By the second race, it was pretty sloppy," Peebles said.

Peebles explained Gantt practiced for the sectional by running eight 400-yard dashes with 200 yard walks in between. His splits for this ranged from :65 to :71.

Turkey Open returns to links

Golfers of all abilities will gobble up the chance to win a free turkey at the Third Annual Turkey Open Golf Tournament set for Sunday, Nov. 12 at the Lake County Forest Preserve's Brae Loch Golf Course near Grayslake. Play begins at 9 a.m., with a shotgun start, foursome scramble.

The entry fee for the 18-hole tournament is $100 per foursome and includes green fees, golf cart, lunch, and prizes. The lucky members of the low-scoring foursome will receive gift certificates for free turkeys.

Reservations and pre-payment are required. For more information or to make your reservation, call Brae Loch Golf Course at 223-5542.

Antioch girls runners end successful year

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

That's the way the pickle squirts.

Some dreams of running at the state girls cross country meet for the Lady Sequoits were laid to rest following a disappointing showing at the sectional meet.

Antioch finished 17th out of 20 teams, and Antioch's best hope for an individual bidding for state Megan Durney finished 40th.

"I know they were all disappointed, especially Megan," said Coach Dick Harland. "Megan was doing fine until the last quarter mile. She seemed to run out of gas."

Liana Rothermel, a sophomore, finished in the top 100 with a 67th place finish.

"I thought we had the potential to be in the top 10," Harland said. "I think some of the younger girls were taken back by the course and the excitement of all the people."

Katie Leffelman of Libertyville was the only girl runner from Lake County to qualify for state.

'I thought we had the potential to be in the top 10.'

—Dick Harland,
Antioch girls track coach

"Katie is a good representation of this area. She really comes out representing the North Suburban Conference at the state meet," said Libertyville Coach Harry Carlson, whose team also finished a disappointing 14th place. Stevenson finished with the best Lake County showing in 12th place.

Antioch, however, had a very successful year. The Sequoits defeated both Libertyville and Stevenson in a dual meet. They settled for a second-place finish in the conference standings but successfully defended their regional title before advancing to the sectional.

"I characterize this year as a very successful year. I told them not to hang their heads because of one race. I told them to think of all the things they accomplished through the year," Harland said.

He continued, "Last year, we talked about taking that next step which would have meant winning the conference, but, all in all, I think the program has made great strides."

Harland also has reason to believe the cross country program will continue to make strides as the core of the squad will be returning next year. The team will lose Durney, Beth Lennon and Lauren Burke to graduation.

Leading the Antioch girls runners next year include Rothermel, Christina Barbic, Esther Schuerer, Shayne Jacobson, Megan Mitchell, Lauren Steinburg and Colleen McCandless.

"We're going to have a lot of fun next year," Harland said.

Blitz own first place, Rockers remain unbeaten

Blitz

The Blitz remained undefeated and took over sole possession of first place in the U-19 Yellow Division after playing two games this weekend.

The Blitz played St. Charles Celtic Green to a 0-0 tie. It was a very physical contest with both teams having good scoring opportunities. Melissa Helbig played outstanding in goal.

The Blitz faced the Libertyville Wildcats, the team that they were in a tie for first place with. Both teams spent the first half bending but not breaking.

Tied 0-0 well into the second half, the Blitz seized their opportunity. Elly Elfering sent a clearing pass over the Libertyville defense that Becca Bleyer took in stride for the breakaway goal. That was all Lindenhurst needed for the 1-0 victory.

Blitz standouts in the total team effort were Melissa Helbig (goal keeper), Jill Denoma, Amie Carlberg, Nicki Kral, Tami Wright, Carrie Gofron and Sondra Lorang.

The Blitz (7-0-1) finish their season this weekend on the road Saturday at Glen Ellyn and Sunday at Crystal Lake.

Power

The Lindenhurst Power defeated the Arlington Aces 2-0 in their match up. Teri LaRoche opened the scoring when she was able to tap in a crossing pass from Sarah Richardson.

The offense and mid-field play of Katie Anderson, Lauren Beatty, Kelsey Hendrickson, Kristen Hungarland and LaRoche kept the pressure on the Arlington keeper throughout the second half.

Jamie Wismer then scored the insurance goal on a penalty kick with three minutes left to play in the game.

Rockers

The Rockers remained unbeaten at 6-0-2 with a hard fought tie against the Wild Things in Bartlett.

The home team scored first and took a 1-0 lead into half-time. Kristina Gopp scored the tying goal off of a goal kick early in the second half.

The Rockers continued the pressure, out-shooting them 7-1 the rest of the way, but could not find the back of the net.

Solid performers for Lindenhurst were Lauren Cole, Erin Peacey, Beth Fries at stopper and Robyn Mortenson as sweeper.

Rockets

The Rockets posted their eighth shut-out of the season with a 2-0 victory over Schwaben AC.

Solid defense once again shut down their opponents' offense.

The Rockets' first goal of the game was scored in the first half by Callie Check. Check intercepted the ball on a Schwaben goal kick and took it in for the score. The Rockets' second goal was scored by Pam Staton. Elizabeth Willding assisted on the goal.

Turbos

The Lindenhurst Turbos (boys U-13) defeated the Wheatland Scorpions 3-0.

The Turbos struck early in the first half as Adam Schuster broke loose down the left side and fired a shot into the upper corner. The next goal came as the Turbos were awarded a direct kick, which Schuster put in front of the goal for Jeff Prorok to push past the keeper.

The Turbos ended the first half scoring as Prorok worked the ball over to Schuster, whose shot bounced off the goalie to Ari Brown, who punched it into the net.

The second half was a defensive battle led by Adam Richter, Steve Colletti, Michael Marchetti, Donny Pearson, and goalie Jason Meyers as the Turbos earned their second shut-out in a row.

Boltz

The Lindenhurst Boltz soccer team traveled to Rockford for two games.

The Boltz defeated the United 2-0 in the first game. Brad Hoogerhyde and Mike Persman combined in goal for the shut-out.

The Boltz returned to Rockford and lost a tough game 1-0 to the Lions. The Boltz scored only to have their goal nullified on a questionable off-side call.

Comets finish with league title

The Comets of the girls fifth-to sixth-grade division in the Lindenhurst Youth Soccer League finished the season in first place.

The Comets concluded the season with a 3-3 tie to the runner-up Lazars. The tie kept the Comets undefeated in the fall season and 9-1-5 overall.

In the season finale, Emily Niles nailed two goals and Lisa Chudd added the other. Allison Kerr provided two paraters of strong goalkeeping.

Coaches credited strong defense and balanced scoring keyed the successful year. Each player contributed with a goal or an assist this year.

Antioch Vikings prepare for championship weekend

Antioch Vikings quarterback Brandon Clutts sets as he helped the heavyweights advance to the championship game Sunday against Warren.—Photo by Todd Swift

Heavys look for repeat

Antioch Viking Heavyweights continue their journey for a second consecutive championship.

The Vikings blasted the McHenry Hornets 48-6 in the semi-final game last weekend.

"We are getting close to putting our whole package together going into the championship game," said Coach Wayne Santi. "It has taken a little longer to get everyone to understand what we want from each position, (but) our players have been very receptive."

The Viking defensive unit contained a very quick McHenry offense. Santi praised the play of defensive leaders Brian Harris, Ron Nissan, Chris Vanderkooy and Conrad Adkins.

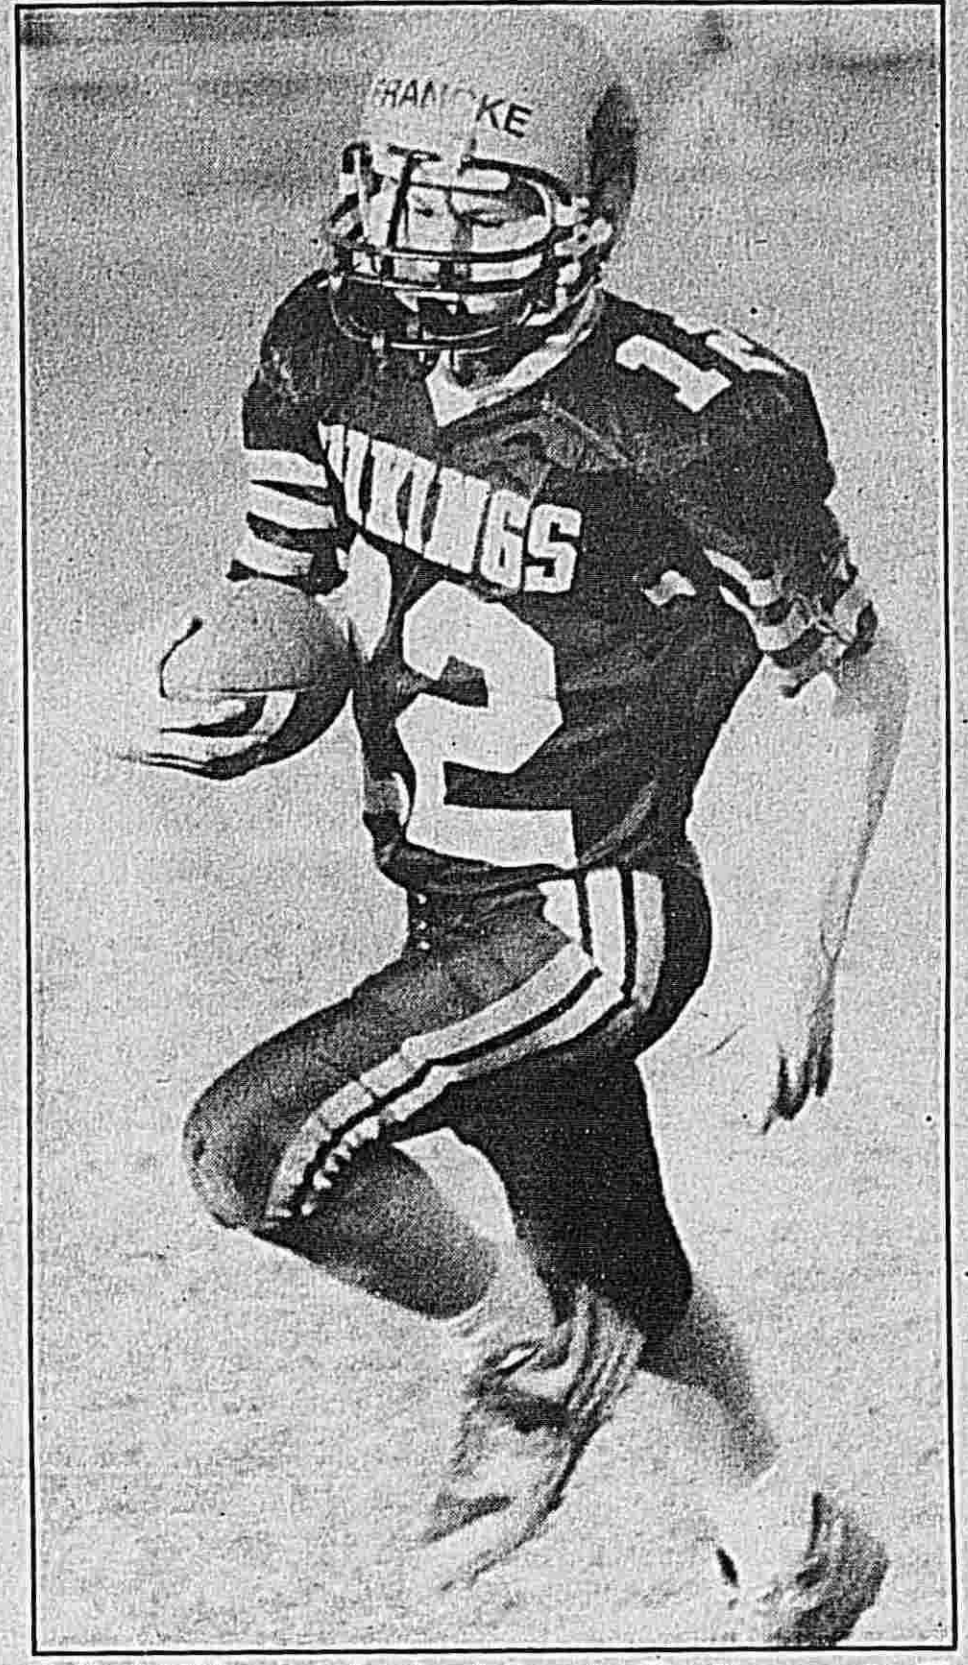

Five different players found paydirt for the Vikings including Quinn Gooch, Brandon Frankie, George Girten, Brandon Clutts and Scott Hodina.

"Our offensive line and our running backs executed with precision," Santi said. "They kept the Hornets on their heels the whole day."

The 8-0 Antioch Heavyweights will meet the winner of the Grayslake And Warren Sunday for the championship tilt.

"Either opponent will be a worthy adversary," Santi said.

Following the lightweight championships at noon, the heavyweights will battle for the title at Antioch High School.

Undefeated Antioch Lightweights crush Mundelein for another title chance

The Antioch Viking Lightweights advanced to the Junior Football League of Northern Illinois (JFLNI) championship game with an easy 30-6 victory over Mundelein.

It was the Viking's twenty-eighth straight win over a three-year period and earned Antioch a spot in the league's championship game Sunday against the Grayslake Colts. Grayslake upsets the second place Warren Packers 20-14 for a title shot against Antioch.

Wide receiver Mike Smith put Antioch on the scoreboard midway in the first quarter on a 57-yard reverse. Seven plays later, running back Adam Niles scored the first of his two touchdowns on a 12-yard run.

In the second quarter, Antioch scored two more touchdowns on runs of two yards by Niles and a quarterback sneak from one yard out by Mark Purnell as Antioch moved to a 24-0 halftime lead.

The team had rushed for over 150 yards at this point, behind excellent blocking of center Nick Kocinski, guards Jarrod Lewis and Chris Kocinski, tackles Luke Larsen and Joe Kennedy, and ends Jeff Johansen and Nick Balen.

Following Mundelein's only touchdown halfway through the third quarter, running back Brandon Flitcroft excited the crowd as he returned the kickoff 95 yards for the fifth Antioch touchdown.

Antioch totaled 272 offensive yards—most of which were from their ground game. Niles rushed for 82 yards on 12 carries; Eldon Rivelli had 62 yards on 10 carries; and quarterback Purnell carried three times for 28 yards and threw for 37 yards on 3 of 8 attempts.

Antioch limited Mundelein to 86 offensive yards total. Linebacker Rivelli had five solo tackles to lead the Vikings. Jerrad Ponce had four tackles, defensive end Chris Rogalla added three tackles with safety Craig Eibl's two tackles and a pass interception.

Again, the defensive front line of ends Rogalla, Rob Lodesky, Balen—who also played defensive tackle—defensive tackles Dane Anderson and Jeff Norwick, nose guard Pat Swanson, line-backer Brad Groth and Safety Jacob Rapinchuk turned in an excellent defensive game.

Sunday's championship game marks the third straight time Antioch has played for the title. This will be the second meeting between Antioch and Grayslake this year. In September, Antioch shut out the Colts 14-0 behind the two touchdown performance of Rivelli, but both squads have made many improvements, and in Grayslake's 20-14 win over the Warren Packers, the Colts played flawless football. Kickoff is set for noon at Antioch High School.

Antioch Raiders blast Mundelein

The Antioch Raiders improved to 6-1 with a convincing 43-19 victory over Mundelein.

An offensive explosion by Allan Rapinchuk resulted in four rushing touchdowns. He also caught a 58-yard pass for a touchdown reception. Rapinchuk collected 149 yards on 13 carries.

The offense was also led by Bobby Grasser, who totaled 167 yards rushing on 13 carries. Shane Spencer added a late score. Chris Orozco added the extra point.

The offensive line of Chris Richardson, Tim Husfen, Mike Pocius and Jonah Uhl opened gaping holes for the rushing attack. Chris Wold and Chris Schultz added to the blocking efforts.

Defensively, Lincoln Barnett, Dan Black, Tony Sprovieni and Andrew Wells kept Mundelein in check. Trent Domel recovered a kickoff, while Ryan Roberts, Ryan Wegel and Jason Wegel were tough holding Mundelein to two scores.

Antioch High hosts title games

As the Antioch Vikings football program celebrates its silver anniversary, the Vikings will also be hosting the championship games Sunday at Antioch High School.

The Antioch Lightweights will square off against Grayslake at noon.

The Antioch Heavyweights will contest rival Warren following the lightweight game at 2 p.m.

Both Vikings teams are defending undefeated regular season records and last year's championship crowns.

GOP ideals prompt three Democrats to switch parties

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Lake County Republican Party Chairman John Schullen handed out ties to the three newest members of the Republican Party.

"Every Republican should have an elephant tie," Schullen remarked. The elephant has long been the Republican symbol, while the donkey has symbolized the Democrats.

Together three former Democrats announced their switch to the Republican Party. David Stollman, a county board member from Long Grove and Buffalo Grove, Ralph Davis, mayor of Round Lake Beach, and Christopher Wakefield, who ran unsuccessfully for the state 59th district last November, all officially call themselves Republicans now.

Schullen noted that their change of party affiliation marks the growing tide of Democrats switching to the Republican party across the country. That tide has now hit home in Lake County, he said.

"These three Lake County leaders represent the changes that are occurring throughout the nation," Schullen said. "They realize that they have not left the Democrat Party but that the Democrat Party has left them."

School bus safety studied after tragedy

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

The tragic school bus accident in Fox River Grove which resulted in the death of seven children is weighing heavily on the minds of many Lake County bus drivers, school administrators and parents who are searching for ways to address school bus safety issues and improve upon them.

There are strict state mandated safety requirements in place for drivers and safety training is provided to children as well to prevent accidents.

Many Lake County school buses are leased from National School Bus Service which operates out of Barrington.

Carol Harper, safety training director for National School Bus Service, is the main liaison for school safety programs. She travels to any school that the company services on request and instructs the children in safety procedures.

Harper says National drivers are very shaken up by the accident in Fox River Grove. Many parents and students have been giving them a hard time since the accident.

"We're thinking about having a counselor come in to talk to the drivers," said Harper. "Some parents have even come up to the drivers and said 'you better not get my kid hurt.'"

Harper had some kids joke around the other day while she was driving a bus, really scaring her.

"I was crossing some railroad tracks and had opened the doors and checked to make sure no train was coming but when I started to cross the tracks the kids started to scream that a train was coming because they thought

Search for cause of $5 million blaze continues

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

No one will say if foul play is suspected at a blaze which consumed a coffee manufacturing company in Lakemoor, but a number of investigators are still searching for answers to the cause of the blaze.

Fox Lake firefighters received a call about a fire at Coffee Masters on 27709 Concrete Drive at 6:57 a.m. Oct. 27. The fire spread rapidly throughout the warehouse. A total of 27 fire departments from Lake, McHenry, and Kenosha counties were on hand to assist. The fire was finally put out nearly a dozen hours later.

Loss is estimated at $5 million. The blaze destroyed the facility that once housed coffee, tea, and cocoa products and packaging items.

According to authorities, about 40 employees had arrived at the plant for first shift at 6 a.m.

After several of the workers attempted to put out the fire which originated in the southwest area of the warehouse, they and the other employees exited the building when efforts failed. No injuries were reported.

"I don't have a cause," said Lake County Sheriff's Detective Tom Rovetuso. "Because of that, we're investigating further." Rovetuso along with other detectives from the Lake County Sheriff's police are currently interviewing each Coffee Master employee. So far though "There's nothing either way," said Rovetuso.

Fox Lake Fire Department Assistant Fire Chief Mike McNally said, "We're still ruling out many, many possibilities and still talking with various witnesses."

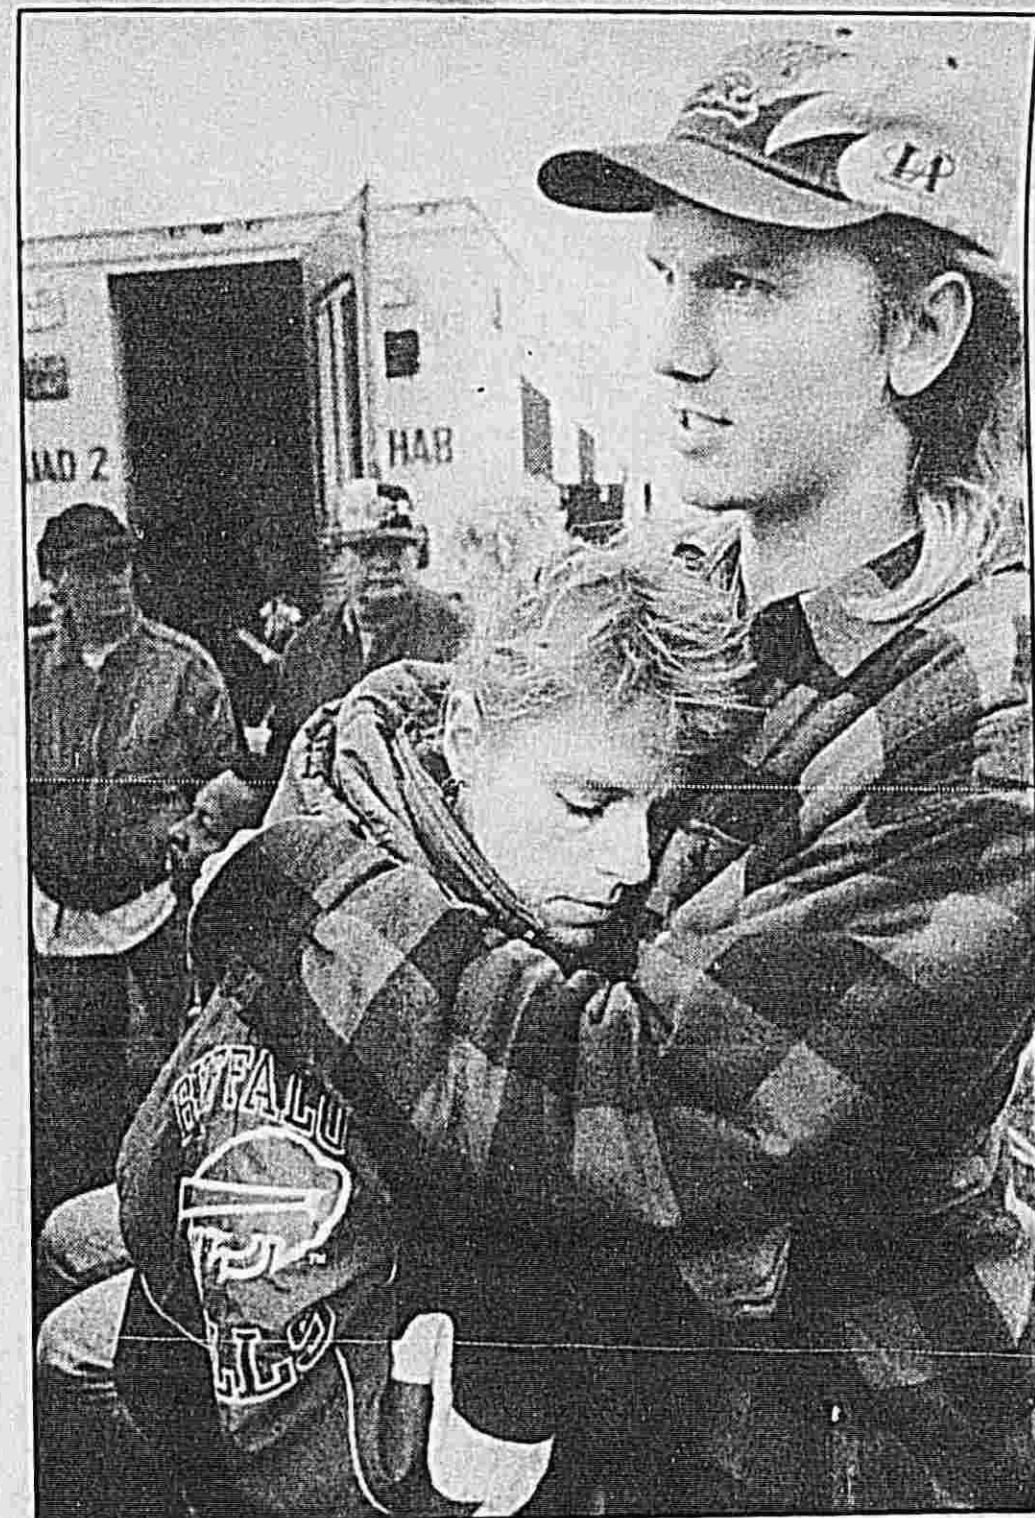

The assistant fire chief explained the size of the blaze was like nothing he's seen before. "It was the largest one that I can remember," said McNally. He said 952,200 gallons of water were pumped from tankers and other sources to fight the blaze.

Among neighboring companies that helped firefighters were Burris Equipment and the MacAllister Equipment Company for the use of their heavy equipment. Newport Fire Chief Mark Kirschhoffer also assisted in donating the use of his heavy equipment.

Water was also gained from Baxter Travenol, a Wauconda water tank, and a pond right off of the MacAllister Company. McNally said firefighters laid a 5 inch hose at the pond and pumped the water towards the fire.

"We had very good teamwork and cooperation from everyone," said McNally. Hundreds of firefighters assisted from Round Lake, Grayslake, Wauconda, and departments as far away as Waukegan, Lake Forest and Deerfield.

McNally cited the Lakemoor Police, Lake County Sheriff's, Illinois State Fire Marshal's and the Bureau of Alcohol Tobacco and Firearms.

Sue Preston, of Wauconda, is comforted by her brother, George Milbratz, of Fox Lake, at the scene of the fire at Coffee Masters in Lakemoor. Milbratz drove from his job in Northbrook when he heard about the blaze to make sure Preston was safe. Preston was employed at the plant. — Photo by Todd F. Helsler

Growth is issue as five compete for CLC board

Five candidates are competing for two trustee positions for the CLC board of trustees. The incumbents of six-year terms include Nan Fairhurst of Long Grove and Barbara Oilschlager of Grayslake.

Challengers are James Bradner, Jr. of Highland Park, William Griffin of Lake Bluff and Kaz Mohan of Highland Park.

Kaz Mohan

Kaz Mohan believes education is the very building block of any society. Because he received his ongoing education in taxpayer supported schools, he also strongly supports the principle that allows College of Lake County to exist.

Mohan, a resident of Highland Park, wants to continue expanding the resources of the college, including operating a college radio station that is supported by advertising revenue and sponsoring correspondence courses so education can be available to all regardless of schedule. Mohan also hopes to improve PACE services so more Lake County residents can have public transportation alternatives to access the college.

Mohan, who holds a degree in business management and engineering, is a proponent of the tax cap because it forces the school board to be responsible to the taxpayer while still endeavoring to deliver a top quality learning institution. He believes his career as an engineer with the Illinois Department of Education will aid his position on the school board.

"Management, planning and operations—that is what I do everyday. My purpose is how I can be useful to the board and the community," Mohan said.

Nan Fairhurst

Nan Fairhurst is running to retain her seat on the College of Lake County board after serving two, six-year terms. Fairhurst thinks the school has been heading in the right direction and now is not the proper time to make a change of the guard.

"I think we can use stability and experience on the board," said Fairhurst, a resident of Long Grove.

Fairhurst, who says she has been involved in education in one way or the other for many years. She feels the current board has done an admirable job in guiding the college through a massive growth trend. She admits they have made some mistakes but says any healthy institution must sometimes face that reality.

"There is no reason to say the sky is falling," Fairhurst said.

For the future, Fairhurst says the board must concentrate on at least two key items. One is to search for more methods of alternate funding. That would include money from grants and private industry with a smaller dependence on taxpayer money.

The other mission would be to continue to expand the courses offered by the college to meet the growing need for skilled workers in the county. At the same time, Fairhurst believes the board needs to guarantee those courses are immediately transferable and practical in the real employment world.

The three other candidates were profiled in last week's edition of Lakeland Newspapers.

Rep. Clayton delays retirement

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

The once-retiring state legislator Verna Clayton finds herself back into the heat of the District 51 State Representative race.

Clayton

After announcing she was stepping down from her legislative seat, Clayton re-announced that she will in fact seek a third term as a Republican in the Illinois General Assembly.

She said a number of business leaders and officials in the 51st Dist. urged her to remain in office and to continue her fight for human services and local governance.

"A lot of wonderful friends encouraged me to get back into the race," Clayton said.

Her district includes Long Grove, Kildeer, Buffalo Grove, Deer Park as well as parts of Vernon Hills, Mundelein, Hawthorn Woods, Forest Lake and Prairie View.

Long Grove resident Mike Salvi announced that he will run for the Republican candidacy of the 51st Dist. as well. Salvi, who practices law in Lake Zurich, is the brother of State Rep. Al Salvi (R-Wauconda), who is seeking the Republican bid for U.S. Senate.

Clayton said she consulted with her husband first about delaying retirement before re-entering the race.

"We wanted to be 100 percent sure before we made a final decision," Clayton said. "Me and my husband had planned for retirement. Now, that has been put on hold."

If elected, Clayton said she would fight to gain federal block grants from the state for the villages in her district.

"I want some input in determining how the state will be handling those block grants," Clayton said. "I think we need to get these programs to the level nearest to the people."

Clayton was a long-time village president for Buffalo Grove before becoming a state legislator. She said she understands municipal needs and can communicate those needs at the state capitol, especially when it comes time to issue grant money to villages.

"I think the 20 years I had in local government gives me a good background," Clayton said. "I feel I have a lot to offer in Springfield because I know the municipal issues inside and out."

Local business leaders and politicians praised Clayton's efforts in transportation planning, business reform legislation, and parental responsibility laws.

"She has repeatedly earned our endorsement, in no small part because of her open-door policy, which enables constituents of all walks of life to share thoughts and ideas with their legislator," said Robert Grever, Elia Township supervisor.

Clayton said she will busy in the next few weeks petitioning and planning campaign fund-raisers. She said she will "spend as much as it takes to win."

"I'm glad to be back and I think it is the right decision," Clayton said.

Salvi: Clayton needs to answer ironies

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Mike Salvi, Republican candidate for the 51st District State Assembly, sees some ironies in Verna Clayton's announcement of unretirement.

Shortly after Salvi announced his candidacy for the state legislature, Clayton announced that she will not be retiring and will seek a third term for the Springfield seat. Before Salvi said he would be running in the 51st District, Clayton announced she would be retiring from office after her second term.

Salvi questioned how committed Clayton would be to the issues affecting Dist. 51, which includes Buffalo Grove, Long Grove, Prairie View and parts of Vernon Hills and Mundelein, if she plans on retiring to South Carolina after a third term.

"That is an irony that has to be brought to the forefront of this campaign," Salvi insisted.

Clayton made it no secret that she would be moving out of state with her husband before she re-entered the race.

"I think it is unfair for Verna Clayton to vote for tax increases, and then she ends up moving to South Carolina," Salvi said. He challenged her voting record and compared it to a "tax and spend liberal. She's a Democrat wearing Republican clothing."

Salvi continued, "I think Verna Clayton has a track record of voting for bills that cause an increase in taxes and bigger government. My campaign is going to be focused on fighting taxes and reducing government."

Salvi, who lives in Long Grove and has been a life-long resident of Dist. 51, said he is committed to Dist. 51 because he intends to remain here and send his children through the local school systems.

"I think public officials should be dedicated to lowering taxes and reducing government, not figuring out ways how to squeeze more money out of the taxpayers," Salvi said.

Another difference of opinion between the two candidates is their stance on the extension of Route 53 from Lake-Cook Road through Long Grove, Hawthorn Woods and Mundelein enroute to Route 120 in Grayslake.

Salvi opposes the extension, while Clayton has lent her support toward the $1 billion superhighway.

"She will vote for Route 53 and make Lake County more congested, and then she will get away from the congestion by moving to South Carolina," Salvi said.

With both Clayton and Salvi vying for the Republican bid for Dist. 51, Salvi said he welcomes the opportunity to debate her "anytime, any place. I'll be there with bells on."

Salvi

it was funny," Harper lamented.

All this can be very hard on the drivers and Harper said the parents need to give them thanks instead of scrutinizing them right now.

"We have videos that show the children how to behave on the bus and how to practice safety measures. There are four animated videos geared to different age groups, and some more dramatic films which some people don't like because they are so graphic," said Harper. "I believe when it comes to safety you can't be too dramatic."

Round Lake Community Unit District 116 is one of the few districts in the area who doesn't lease their busses. Because of this they have their own Transportation Coordinator, Cathy Lindsay, who oversees the safety programs for the district.

"Currently two times a year we train students in bus evacuation procedures which is required by the state," according to Lindsay. "We reinforce safety to the younger kids with coloring books and the drivers also do presentations. We're always on the lookout to see what we can do better."

After the accident Lindsay and her drivers all took a bus out one day. They drove all the routes looking for trouble spots, looked at all the railroad crossings and addressed the drivers' frustrations.

"One of our drivers, Dawn Wiltberger, suggested the state post distance restrictions between tracks and stopping points, similar to the posted height restrictions on underpasses," Lindsay said. "The drivers are also starting a petition to reinstate train whistle blowing in Round Lake during the day when school busses are on the road."

Lindsay said that the biggest safety distraction is discipline. If parents are concerned about their children's safety on the bus they need to make sure the children know how to behave on the way to school she added.

"When the driver has to constantly look into the mirror to keep an eye on the kids they're not watching the road," Lindsay stressed.

Safety devices

Following the accident, many people are now bringing up the issue of busses not having seat belts.

Sal Guadanga, Illinois regional manager for National, says that more bus injuries occur outside the bus rather than inside.

"We don't think belts are necessary, they are actually more detrimental to small children and have been considered in some tests to cause pelvic injuries" Guadanga said. "The way the bus designs are compartmentalized with high seat backs and narrow aisles keeps children from going over seats on a frontal impact and within the seating compartment so they're not traveling around the bus."

National installed a new safety device on all their buses last fall. The new device is a 6 foot long yellow crossing arm attached to the bus at bumper level. It extends to keep people from walking too close to the bus and into the driver's blind spot. The new arms automatically swing out when the driver opens the door.

"This new device ensures that the driver can see the children and they know not to walk in front of the bus," said Guadanga.

Guadanga believes the new safety innovations on school buses are the result of a lot of time and effort that have produced a far better vehicle than what was around 15 years ago.

An organization located in Skokie is working to have seat belts installed in all school busses.

The National Coalition for School Bus Safety was founded by Laura Schwartz and some of her friends when they perceived a safety hazard for children on busses without seatbelts. She claims there are 7,000 onboard injuries a year on school busses.

"We became concerned when children were required by the state to wear seatbelts in a regular vehicle but not in the school bus," said Schwartz. "We also want children to reinforce the habit training of always wearing their seatbelts which they do in the car but not on the bus."

According to Schwartz the number one cause of school bus injury is driver error. She believes if the kids are wearing belts it will keep them in their seats and allow the driver to concentrate on driving.

National Bus Company supplies busses for Stevenson High School Dist. 125, Diamond Lake Dist. 76, Fremont Dist. 79, Hawthorn Community Consolidated School Dist. 73, Lake County Special Education District, Libertyville Community High School Dist. 128, Libertyville Public School Dist. 70, Lincolnshire Prairie View School Dist. 103 and Mundelein Consolidated High School Dist. 120.

AT A GLANCE

Knifer arrested

FOX LAKE—A man who allegedly stuck a knife in the chest of Edward Kvaas, 28, of Gurnee Oct. 22 in the parking lot of Yacht Seas bar in Fox Lake, has been arrested. Fox Lake police obtained a warrant for the arrest of Wayne R. Snell, 22, he was placed under arrest without incident Oct. 25 at his residence at 319 N. Glenwood in McHenry. Snell was charged with two counts of aggravated battery. He posted $5,000 bond and was released. Police said the stabbing occurred after an argument over a female. Kvaas was flown to a Milwaukee hospital after the stabbing, and he has been released.

Wilhelm to keynote brunch

WAUKEGAN—Terry Link, Chairman of the Lake County Democratic Central Committee, will host the first in what hopes to be an annual brunch by the Lake County Democrats to meet and build support for the organization, candidates and party positions. The event will feature keynote speaker David Wilhelm who served as chairman of the Democratic National Committee from 1993-1994 as well as campaign manager for President Bill Clinton and Richard M. Daley.

Explorers help in Antioch

ANTIOCH—The Antioch Explorer Post helped save last weekend's Halloween Howl by providing information leading to the arrest of Hank A. Knackstedt, 25, of Antioch. The Explorer Post was on duty early Saturday morning when they observed a man walk into a Halloween Howl display, tear down some plastic sheeting, and throw it to the ground. They promptly contacted police by radio and gave officers a complete description of the perpetrator. Village officials were able to repair the damage in time for the Howl to open Saturday on time.

Dist. 50 talks in arbitration

GAGES LAKE—The first arbitration hearing between Woodland District 50 Support Staff and the school board is expected to take place next week.

This after support staff personnel and their backers are expected to have informational picketing at a Woodland Middle School craft fair Nov. 4. The next negotiation session is Nov. 7.

The 135 personnel consisting of bus drivers, clerical staff, maintenance workers and teachers aides have been working without a contract since July 1.

President to attend ceremony

WAUCONDA—A resident who received the Congressional Medal of Honor following his service in World War II will be buried next week in a ceremony held in Springfield. Charles Pierceall, 79, died of congested heart failure Oct. 22. Not known as a man who spoke about himself too often, Pierceall held a secret from many people — the fact that he received the highest medal of honor awarded by the U.S. Military. Pierceall took command of his post after his company's commanding officer was killed in a battle in France Jan. 1945. Pierceall's heroics saved his company's lives, while he alone was responsible for killing dozens of the enemy. Officials at the Pentagon said President Clinton and Vice President Gore were scheduled to attend the Nov. 6 ceremony at Camp Butler.

Sex abuser arrested in Gurnee

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Kenneth J. Kozak, 33, 4312 Centennial Court, Apt. 1, Gurnee was arrested for criminal sexual abuse, Oct. 26. He reportedly had sexual relations with a 15-year-old girl three years ago, according to Round Lake Beach Police. Police seized pictures of young girls playing in playgrounds and at beaches. Police found several rolls of undeveloped film with children on it. Kozak reportedly would pick up young girls at the Round Lake Beach lake front. Police have talked with additional people who claim to be victims of his, and are considering further charges against Kozak, according to Commander John Laycock. Kozak remains free on a $7,500 bond.

Sex offender plea bargains

GRAYSLAKE—An accused sex offender living in Grayslake has confessed to his crime and has entered a plea bargain. Since he is a repeat offender, Assistant Lake County State's Attorney Randi Bruno has promised he will spend time in jail. Accused sex offender Joseph P. Escalera, 51, of Grayslake did not spend any time in jail after pleading guilty to three counts of aggravated criminal sexual abuse in 1988 in Cook County. Escalera was sentenced to four years probation after being charged with three counts of criminal sexual abuse to minor boys in 1988 and the judge allowed him time served for the six months he had been incarcerated preceding the plea bargain. Bruno is taking a zero tolerance stance on Escalera's plea bargain. "He can get up to seven years in prison and seven years is what we will ask for," Bruno said.

Dog abuser convicted

GRAYSLAKE—Five months after being found in a Grayslake apartment, Rusty the Doberman is healthy and her owner will pay for his crime of aggravated animal cruelty after his conviction in a three-hour bench trial. Thornton faces up to a year in prison and a $1,000 fine for the class A misdemeanor. His sentencing is set for 1:30 p.m., Nov. 29, in Room C405 in the County building in Waukegan. Rusty, who is in the care of Lake County Animal Control in Mundelein, has recovered fully from her deprived state and weighs more than 40 pounds.

Downtown renovates

LIBERTYVILLE—Libertyville is sprucing up these days with the addition of two new businesses that have gone to great lengths to improve the looks of the downtown area. Prudential Preferred Properties has done extensive renovations on the outside of their new office at 355 N. Milwaukee Ave., the former historic Libertyville Hotel. The Libertyville Bank and Trust Co. has moved into the 507 North Milwaukee Ave. building and has also done a major renovation on their building interior and minor renovations to the exterior, making it the oldest active bank building in Lake County.

Lake County Democrat Chairman Terry Link said the switch will not affect the party's attempt to put up a Democrat challenger in every open race for the 1996 elections.

"The Democrat Party is still alive, well and viable," Link said. "The Democrat Party has not left anyone. It's a party of diversity; it's a party open to all races; it's a party open to all religions; and it's a party open to all ethnic origins."

After looking at his voting record on the County Board and his constituency in Buffalo Grove and Long Grove, Stolman said he switched parties to better represent his district. He will be pulling petitions as a Republican candidate for Lake County Board Dist. 20 for the spring primaries.

"I look forward to this as a golden opportunity...to bring a closer relationship between Buffalo Grove and Lake County," Stolman said.

He said this was the appropriate time to change parties, so he could complete his term as a Democrat and seek re-election as a Republican.

"I got elected as a Democrat so I thought I would finish out the term as a Democrat," Stolman said.

Davis, who has been elected mayor of Round Lake Beach in 1994, took the opportunity to announce that he was running for re-election as mayor in 1997 as a Republican.

"I have come to realize the Democrat Party doesn't really express my ideals and what I believe in," Davis said. "I don't see any change in their basic core beliefs."

Wakefield, who lost his Democrat bid for State Representative against Republican Thomas Lachner of Lake Bluff, said the Republican Party better matches his Christian beliefs.

"I learned that political labels cannot identify everybody in that party," Wakefield said.

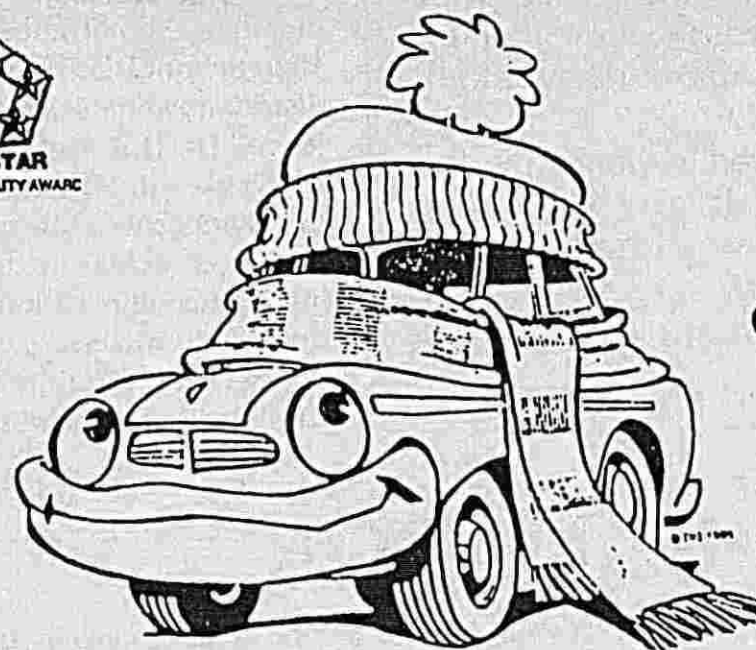

He said following the "Million Man March" in Washington a new wave of energy in the minority community erupted, and he wants to funnel that new energy to positive causes. He said the Democrat Party has not lived up to the "myth" of representing the "little guy."

"I received more support from the Republican Party mentally than I did from the Democrat Party," said Wakefield, adding, "This is not a turncoat position because I was never given a coat to put on in the Democrat Party."

Link said there were no hard feelings for the departures, but he questioned, "Are they going with the flow or were they promised the moon?"

"They're all fine gentlemen and outstanding members in their community," Link said. "I wish them well, but, of course, I'm going to try to defeat them at election time."

Contests missing for school seats

Serving on the board of education of a public school in today's world has to be one of the most difficult, stressful, thankless and lonely modes of elected service imaginable. And school board members don't even get paid!

Is that why one-third of the seats up in the school board elections Tuesday, Nov. 7, are uncontested?

Could be that some of those elective positions in Lake County are being left unchallenged out of respect and satisfaction with the incumbents. More than likely, the lack of competition reflects an apathetic electorate or a citizenry that is overwhelmed by the enormity of problems facing public education in these turbulent times. In tiny Rondout Elementary, located between Libertyville and Lake Bluff, not a single candidate filed to run.

It takes a special kind of person to run for election to the school board. Dedication and commitment, yes, with perhaps a touch of masochism. Ten districts also will have money questions on the ballot Nov. 7. Are you prepared to pass judgment? Where there are contests and issues, please do your homework in preparation for voting. The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Anti-gang drive reflects change

Harsh words on a harsh subject.

Illinois Atty. Gen. Jim Ryan took a firm stand in favor of stiff incarceration practices when he reaffirmed that society can't allow the prison population to drive public policy. Ryan's position, enunciated in an address at an anti-gang seminar in Lake County, shows how far we've come from days when the death penalty was denounced and imprisonment of lawbreakers was ridiculed as the ultimate expression of unenlightenment in dealing with the ills of society.

The existence of organizations like the Southern Lake County Regional Action Plan Project (RAPP) is influencing the community to strike back against gang crime and youth violence. The ultimate extension of public opinion against crime and criminals is removal from society and jailing of predators as exemplified by gangs and dangerous felons who commit most of the major lawbreaking acts.

Ryan told county law and education leaders attending the seminar that legalization of drugs is a bankrupt theory. In short, Ryan's message was more arrests, stiffer sentences and bigger prisons.

The old ways of rehabilitating hard core felons on the outside simply didn't work.

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

By coincidence, two giants of Lake County education died within days apart. Both gained recognition and respect by doing their jobs well while working for years to make their communities better places to live.

Walter Johnson, 80, helped organize the current Libertyville High School Dist. and propel the district toward a path of excellence. Dr. H.R. McCall, 95, guided Waukegan Elementary during turbulent years while becoming a model of achievement in civic life. They enjoyed long and distinguished careers.

The two notable educators came from an era when school superintendents became fixtures in community life. William "Bill" Thompson, retired Lake County superintendent of schools and a recognized educator himself, told this commentator that the times are so different and the job of school superintendent has become so complicated that we aren't likely to see long-term school superintendents again. "Now they're here for a few years. Then they move on," Thompson related. Pressured by unions and special interests, modern school chiefs wear down quickly. Walter Johnson and H.R. McCall were among the school professionals who never wore out their welcome.

The school district and the community misses a lot with the system of revolving-door superintendents.

NOT BASHFUL—Columnists in the big city made light of the fact that Al Salvi came up light in an excursion to Washington, D.C. for campaign funds. Maybe so, but Al isn't timid about testing the local fund raising waters in his race for a U.S. Senate nomination. Monday night, Nov. 6, backers are tossing a $1,000 per person dinner at Midlane Country Club, Wadsworth.

Big contributors will get private time with the candidate before dinner is served to supporters who purchase $125 tickets. Ray Cross, North Chicago industrialist, and Michael Winn are co-chairmen. Members of the host committee include Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Barton, Charlene Beyer, Dr. William C. Dam, Fredrick Dempsey, Mrs. Barry Fleming, Mark Giarrante, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas M. Keller III, Jack Martin, Mark Porter,

Dr. Thomas G. Salvi, Dr. John Schullien and Ralph Swank Jr.

Right from the start, Salvi has professed confidence that he'll do fine in the fund raising department. The dinner Monday night is an example of what he's talking about.

MAKE BELIEVE—As Mike Warren Sr. put it, "We're having the time of our life." Aren't we all. Even die-hard U of I fans admitted that Northwestern richly deserved victory in the annual Illini-Wildcat intra-state gridiron fracas. Keep the Evanston Express moving.

OK. My prediction was sunk by a penalty-prone Illinois third quarter defense and a bumbling, befuddled Orange and Blue fourth quarter offense. But I got NU's point total correct. Some consolation.

Warren Sr. embodies the Walter Mitty-type year Northwestern football is experiencing. "We haven't forgotten those other seasons," the prominent Antioch real estate broker recalled when Mike Jr., the talented fifth year defensive end, and his mates suffered humiliation regularly. "Now it's different and it's wonderful," exclaimed the proud father.

Besides playing good football, Northwestern has been playing smart football. We'll be pulling for the Wildcats the remainder of the season. Maybe there's a place for intelligent football players after all. It's called Northwestern.

—LETTERS TO THE Editor—

End school obstructions

I must respond to your editorial of Oct. 21 "Replace Tax Hike With User Fees." I agree that the beneficiaries of any product or service ought to pay the cost of the benefit received. I reside in the Round Lake area and will vote yes for all three referendum issues that will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot.

If all three issues pass, I expect my property tax to increase approximately $35 per month. This does not make me happy, but I realize that it is necessary. As a 46-year-old adult I have benefited well from public education. Virtually everyone I know has and does benefit.

By virtue of public education I have developed the intellectual capacity and gained the tools needed to run a small company. The people with whom I work, and the customers that we serve have all benefited. All are reasonably literate, we all share a common socio-economic experience—all due to public education.

I rarely have to deal with individuals who are acutely disabled by illiteracy or who are severely socially maladjusted because they have been shut out of the shared experience of public education.

I believe that two things must happen if public education is to survive. The state must unconditionally fund the education of all its citizens and change any law, such as teacher tenure law, that obstructs the delivery of quality education to its citizens. Think about it. What will happen when funds provided by current referenda are no longer adequate? I'll sign off as one who is glad he does not live in Bosnia or some other benighted third world country.

Liberal media aids force

When 600,000 Christians gathered on the Washington Mall 1980, ABC news didn't even cover it. A hundred thousand pro-gun activists protested the "Crime Bill" September 1994—there was a media black out. But the last few weeks have seen round-the-clock publicity for a march sponsored by one of the vilest bigots in our history—a man who makes David Duke and Bull Connor look like racial moderates.

When it comes to Pat Robertson and Pat Buchanan, the media looks for the slightest sliver in their record to smear their message as "anti-Semitic." But here we must "separate the man from See LETTERS page B5

PARTY LINES

Beyer-Beaubien clash sharpens money issues

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspaper column of political opinion, is prepared from staff reports.

Even before reports aired of her candidacy for state representative, Charlene Beyer of Round Lake Park was taking hits from Republican insiders that campaign financing would be her stumbling block. Now that she's openly in the race, Beyer sees her uphill drive to raise funds a campaign plus because the money question provides voters a sharp contrast with her well-heeled opponent, banker-lawyer Mark Beaubien of Barrington. Beyer supplements family income by working part-time at Mers Restaurant, Wauconda.

The Beyer-Beaubien matchup will definitely decide whether a candidate of modest means can be successful in politics today. Keep in mind that this is the west Lake County district where incumbent Al Salvi and Nancy Masterson spent well in excess of $200,000 combined four years ago.

Children speak—Sixth and seventh graders at Thomas School, Arlington Heights, are campaigning to knock out Rte. 53. A total of 710 no votes were cast against the controversial highway in a straw poll from an enrollment of 818. The serious-minded young people are hanging their hats on the wealth of environmental problems surrounding highway construction plans.

Changing territory—Joanne H. Osmond, architect of the ill-fated Antioch-Lake Villa-Lindhurst unit school proposal, hopes voters will endorse her plan Nov. 7 to conclude a term on the Antioch High board of education and move into a slot on the Lake Villa Dist. 41 elementary board. Osmond, employed in management at Baxter Laboratories, resides in the Lake Villa area.

Costly economy—No one in the County Building wants to take credit for this gaff. For good reason: Community service detainees quickly were pulled off a moving job due to asbestos removal construction when it was discovered their carelessness was damaging property and creating chaos. Private movers finished the job. So much for economy in government.

One job enough—Cuba Twp. Highway Com. Kermit Smitty took himself out of contention for a County Board seat representing the Barrington area. What made up his mind? Not wanting to leave taxpayers stranded in case of a snow storm. As a County Board member, Kermit would have been accused of leaving taxpayers stranded a lot.

Forced vacancies—Job transfers continue to play havoc with south Lake County municipalities. Long Grove Trustee Bruce Klein has vacated his village board seat since employment took him to Detroit.

No contract—Teachers at Grant High are working without a contract. That situation might spark strike rumors at many schools, but not so, says Board President Paul Jakstas. "We've got an understanding. Things are being worked out," Jakstas reported. Grant teachers are represented by the American Federation of Teachers.

To be rescheduled—Round Lake Park Mayor Charlene Beyer called off a Saturday morning press conference to announce her candidacy for state representative. The rescheduling resulted from not wanting to conflict with a ribbon cutting ceremony the next day for official opening of Round Lake Park's new police station. "There'll be another day," a Beyer aide said. The first term mayor will run in the Republican primary.

New number—As one of the newest members of the Lake County Republican Party, David Stolman, a former Democrat Stolman who is a County Board member from Buffalo Grove, quickly realized he had to add the phone number of the Republican headquarters to his rolodex. "Unfortunately, I don't know the number," Stolman said before announcing his switch to the Republican Party. "Maybe I should know the number. I'm sure I will after today."

Changing parties, homes—After announcing his change in party affiliation from Democrat to Republican, Christopher Wakefield also noted that he will be moving to North Chicago. The Waukegan resident and former Democrat candidate for the State House hopes to win his first election. Party Lines speculates the double move in party and home means Wakefield will be either challenging North Chicago mayor Bobby Thompson, a Democrat, or Angelo Kyle, a Democrat on the County Board. Wakefield said he will make an official announcement on which office he is interested in within the next two weeks.

Answering the call—Mary Ellen Vanderventer, former Elections Administrator, signed up early to serve as judge in the Nov. 7 non-partisan election. "After recruiting election judges for 26 elections, it was only right that I practice what I preached," Vanderventer said. She will serve in Antioch on election day working an average of 14 hours. "I'm delighted to serve as judge, 14 hours will be a short day compared to the hours I used to work on election day," Vanderventer said.

the message." And what really is that message? Underneath that "self-help" patina, it's the same old liberal nostrums: affirmative action, voter registration and pressure tactics to get a bigger government hand-out.

Why is the liberal media abetting this farce? Because on one hand, the threat of Farrakhan helps maintain the Great Society ("if we cut anything, we'll have a race riot"). Finally, it helps their favorite Presidential candidate, Colin Powell. After all, Powell is the only one who can "bring the two nations together."

Thomas Sowell, in his wonderful book "The Vision of the Anointed," describes the four steps liberals use to coerce society to conform to their "vision":

1. Create a "crisis" atmosphere with a "problem" that was already declining before liberals "discovered" it (crime, poverty, racism, "unwanted pregnancy," ad nauseum)
2. Propose a "solution" (always a big government program run by them)
3. Implement the "solution" (using the most shameless propaganda and election tactics)
4. Explain away the failure ("Reagan didn't give our programs enough money," "White Racism").

Tom, you're one of the most brilliant men in America, but you forgot step five: bring the society to the edge of chaos by constantly bombarding the public with the raw sewage of race hate, sleazy sex and the glorification of every violent misfit. That way, in desperation, the public will accept any strong man (and his big government solution) that comes along.

CLC experience endorsed

Editor:
I have been a member of the board of trustees of the College of Lake County from its beginning in December, 1967. It has always been fun because the subject of education is usually interesting; and the company of the staff and other board members insures good conversation on a regular basis—all in connection with a very rewarding cause!

The real distinction of the CLC board of trustees however, is the 30 year tradition and success of its decision making process. Board members have always expressed their disagreements in an atmosphere of calm and quiet in an effort to solve problems.

The current board is in that mode, and the personal differences do not interfere with the educational agenda. If you are pleased with your observations of CLC—or perhaps your own experiences there, I personally recommend that you vote on Nov. 7 for the two experienced trustees, Barbara D. Oilschlager and Nan Fairhurst.

Yorkhouse 'foolish, wasteful'

Editor:
At the recent public forum on the proposed Yorkhouse Road extension hosted by State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis, only one of 188 citizens in attendance supported the new road. The message to the Lake County Board was crystal clear—the public does not want this road.

Unfortunately, several county board members still don't get it. While they admit that the new road is not needed, they attempt to justify their votes in favor of it as "reserving a right of way" in case some need arises years or decades from now.

Building the new Yorkhouse Road would cost $12 million of taxpayers' money for three-quarters of a mile of pavement that would split the Wetlands Demonstration Project in half. It is a bad idea today. It will be an equally bad idea tomorrow.

In the future, because of projected growth in Lake County, the need for public open space for conservation and recreation will be even greater than it is today. Open space on the scale of the Wetlands Demonstration Project—which is located on 550 acres of Forest Preserve along the Des Plaines River—will be even more exceptional. Building a road through the wetlands project will be even more of a mistake.

Even if a need arises in the future to accommodate more east-west traffic, there will be better alternatives than extending Yorkhouse Road—such as widening Delany Road or Rosecrans Road/Rte. 173. Both of those widenings are already listed in the county's long-range transportation plans.

The public should not be fooled into allowing the county board to move ahead with the new Yorkhouse Road under the guise of "planning for the future." This expensive and environmentally destructive new road represents bad planning. Let's stop wasting public money, time and attention on this project. It should be taken off the books for good.

Don't punish kids

Editor:

I am writing in response to the Oct. 20 article in Lipservice concerning the holiday policy and the upcoming referendum in Grayslake School Dist. 46. These are two separate issues. The current holiday policy is a result of parental complaints over past holiday celebrations, and the growing diverse student population at the school. In addition, it is a policy that is being instituted in many school districts throughout the country. If you are really unhappy about this policy, address this with the school board and work with them to adopt another policy.

The Education Fund Referendum for the Nov. 7 election is needed to staff the new elementary school that is being built, and relieve massive overcrowding due to explosive growth in Grayslake. The overcrowding is a situation our children suffer with daily and affects the quality of their education. Holidays occur much less frequently, and the impact on their education is not nearly so great.

Please don't take your anger about a holiday policy out on our children and use it as an excuse not to pass the referendum. Our children only have one chance for a quality education. Punch 85 and vote yes for the Dist. 46 Education Fund Referendum.

Schools benefit everyone

Editor:

How ridiculous to think about charging parents of school-age children a "user fee" as opposed to a tax hike for schools. Parents and their children are not the only persons to benefit from better schools. As a business owner, don't you want to be able to hire literate, articulate employees? As a consumer, don't you want the employees behind the counter to be able to answer your questions or take your order properly? As a homeowner, don't you want your property to appreciate in value? As a patient in a hospital, don't you want the nurses' aides to be able to read the dosage for your medication correctly?

Everyone who lives in a community, whether they have children or not, is directly impacted by the quality of the community's education system. We cannot accord the continuing "dumbing down" of America because of the narrow vision of those who don't have children and don't believe they should pay for new schools, the maintenance to existing schools and salaries for better teachers.

Make the commitment to your community's future, vote yes on the school-related referenda on the ballot. Quality education is everyone's responsibility.

Shameful behavior

I was at the Halloween Howl in Antioch this past weekend and was appalled and ashamed at the behavior of some kids going through the adult Haunted House. The Antioch Jaycees were doing a great job, but I witnessed some kids smarting off, hitting people, swearing, going through again and again, and even throwing things at the Jaycees who were volunteering their valuable time in providing entertainment. I spoke with one of the Jaycees there, who told me that their strobe light was stolen from the area after the first night. I even saw someone yell at one of the Jaycees for scaring their child. Excuse me, but isn't that what they're there for? It's up to you as a parent to determine whether or not your child should go through the Haunted House. There were plenty of less intense activities there for your child. It's a shame that the behavior of some bad apples have to spoil things for the rest of us. I hope the Jaycees will continue to serve the community despite how they were treated. Most of us in Antioch appreciate the work you do. Next year, Claude LaMere, you need to make sure this doesn't happen. Give the Jaycees security each night. Once again, thanks to the Jaycees for putting up with this. Keep up the good work!

Setup?

Hey, Round Lake area parents, what kind of fair and impartial hearing do you think the new candidates got when they were kicked off the school board because of complaints from the board president's good friend, Vera Smith? Laura McGuire and Darlene Friedman, two present board members, stood in judgment of the candidates. Sound like a setup to you, too? Also, how many thousands of dollars did this cost in legal fees? I'm sure the school district lawyer appreciated all the extra money he earned. Too bad, Round Lake students, justice must be served.

All is good?

If all sexuality is a gift from God, then pedophiles must be thrilled in reading Neal Tucker's article about the church that condones homosexuality. It would follow naturally in the logic that is given in the article that if someone is born with a sexual orientation, that it must be good. Not just homosexuality, but also pedophilia. This must be considered as we try very carefully not to avoid biblical issues like twisted thinking.

Give us a break

I'm from Round Lake Heights and I'm calling to say give the little guy a break. They want to pass a referendum to raise taxes so we can have money for school. This is Illinois, don't we have a lottery? I thought a certain percentage of that was supposed to go for schools. If not that, then what about all the developers? They come in, destroy land, and cut down all the trees so they can build $150,000 to $200,000 homes so people can live on top of each other. Have you noticed how much land has been stripped around here and how many homes are empty? Yet they keep building more. I'm not against progress, but do it right. Instead of 240 homes, build 120, cut the lots so they can have trees and land, then get the lottery money and put it together with the developers and build a school. Go after the state and the big developers and leave the little guy alone!

Let's have results

What were the results of the Prairie Grass Festival? Didn't it make money? I haven't seen anything. Weren't the towns guaranteed their money back? Did they get it? And what about the park district? Does anybody know?

Political games

I'd like to remind Mayor Hamsher of Fox Lake that the rules and statutes of Illinois stipulates that only one trustee is allowed in the mayor's office at one time. One, not two, and with the door open, Mr. Mayor. So in case you were wondering, not everyone is being treated fairly in this town. Politics is being played in Fox Lake. One person is being treated differently than the other.

A lot of doubt

In response to the Oct. 20 Lipservice, specifically "Not shocked" and "Justice served," I agree with "Justice served" 100 percent. I too am white and in my 50s. This is not a surprise. For your information, this was not an all black jury. Do your homework. Reasonable doubt is what it's all about and there was plenty.

Volleyball apology

I attended a Grant girls volleyball game on Oct. 16 at Wauconda High School. As a parent, I'd like to apologize for the actions of the Grant volleyball coach. She showed disrespect to everyone. I'll do everything in my power to make sure she doesn't coach any Grant student again. Please accept the apology from Grant volleyball players and their parents.

Give some credit

In regard to a comment placed in Lipservice on "Cheers to Spartans," which said the Round Lake High School homecoming parade was okay, but the high school cheerleaders rode in a truck. How dare they sit and say the parade was just okay? They didn't know how much time and effort it took to make the parade what it was. A lot of people in Round Lake were very offended by their harsh words. Think about something before you comment on it.

Praises

I'm a resident of Fox Lake and wanted to comment on the water department here. I requested a water analysis and received the report within hours of my request. I find the water department is very professional and very efficient in their work. I think they deserve a pat on the back!

Sad lesson

For the driver of the white van that hit the cat on Lake Street in Grayslake last weekend, just to let you know, the cat did die. The children who saw you hit the cat were pretty sure you knew you hit it, but didn't stop. The children who canvassed the neighborhood trying to find the cat's owner, tried to figure out why you weren't trying to find the cat's owner and why you didn't stop. We tried to make it a lesson, which was that each homeless creature deserves a little dignity and someone to take care of it. Perhaps this is a lesson you need to learn.

Get a clue

In response to "Unsilently toys" in the Oct. 20 issue, I agree that children's toys strewn over the yard is unsightly. We recently moved into a new subdivision with newly constructed homes. The wetland nature scenery surrounding the homes attracted us to this area. Unfortunately, the parents in the See LIPSERVICE page B7 cul-de-sac area allow the children to leave their toys strewn all over. It's like driving through an obstacle course. When will the parents get a clue?

Get over it

I think there's been enough about O.J. and Nicole in the press lately, let's let it go, okay? I think Ron Goldman's family have really made jerks of themselves in the way they talk about him. I think Nicole Simpson's family has made enough money. Nicole's sister might have witnessed verbal abuse O.J. inflicted upon Nicole, but give us a break. The jury found him not guilty and there's where it's at. Let's not take this to a Rodney King level. Let's hope O.J.'s kids can salvage something from their lives. If O.J. is guilty, he will face his maker eventually and it will come to light. Let's deal with people who aren't celebrities but have physical abuse in their lives.

Stop sign needed

It would seem to make sense, with an elementary school bus stop and a playground park on the south side of the corner of Indian Lane and Old Plank Road in Wildwood. It would seem that a stop sign at this intersection is necessary, especially since most residences are on the north side of the street. Old Plank Road is used as a bypass for motorists avoiding the intersection of Routes 120 and 45. The long straightaway makes for a good place to build up speed. If we can't have a stop sign, maybe we can have "Small Child Kill Zone" signs.

What's going on?

I live in Lake Zurich and was wondering how Sgt. Parberg, who retired after 20 years of service, all of a sudden gets a job as a building inspector in Lake Zurich? What qualifications does he have? What is Mayor Vassels doing? I thought jobs had to be posted or you had to have qualifications!

For your info

To the person who called in wanting to know how to write in candidates for the Round Lake school board election, there will be people at every polling site giving cards and instructions on how to write in the candidate of your choice.

Let kids help

I'm a parent of students in the Johnsburg school district. The new policy or referendum is totally unfair. The students should be allowed to participate in this and the parents should be notified as to why the expenditures of some activities are so great, for instance, the band and chorus program at a budget of $90,000. There's no reason for this. Let the kids help instead of threatening the kids with losing their academic and athletic futures.

Think about it

I'm calling about one more thing on the O.J. trial. If he were innocent like he says he is, how could he sit there and listen to the people standing there accusing him and not shout out that he's an innocent man and why they're not out finding the "real" murderer. About the gloves, nobody's gloves are going to fit if you've got your fingers wide apart and another pair of gloves underneath. Think about that one. I rest my case!

Guilty as sin

This is to "Justice served," regarding the O.J. Simpson case. The glove didn't fit because he had another pair of gloves on, and had his hands stiffly tightened. He looked around and said, "That's it, they don't fit." He's guilty and everybody knows it, including the jury. They didn't want to stay there any longer, they wanted to go home.

No tampering

To the guy who thought O.J. was innocent, are you blind? He had motive, opportunity, and he was the only one who was close to being a subject. Do you think police walk around planting evidence on famous celebrities and ex-jocks? He's guilty as can be!

How to write-in

I'm calling from Round Lake Beach in response to the information requested on how to write in a candidate for the school board election in Dist. 116. I'm sitting here with a flier I received at my door with that information. On the back of the ballot, you are to print in the position and the office, which is "Dist. 116 board member", then you are to put a box with an X in the box and print the candidate's name next to it. You do this for each of the candidates: Ila Bauer, Bob Burrill, Gary Curtis, and Anna Estrada. If you have problems, you can ask the people at the polling place and they will assist you.

Let's party

I'm calling in response to "Politically Incorrect." I'm also from Dist. 46 and my children came home disappointed that they weren't having a Halloween party. I think it's unfair. Now I know there won't be a Christmas or Valentine's party. This is wrong and these people ought to reconsider their actions.

Write about youth

I think it's terrible to put an article in about a church in Waukegan who's got this homosexual thing and write more about the youth groups that are doing things for the community.

Lakeland Newspapers sponsors meeting on Alzheimer's

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor in Chief

Lakeland Newspapers will sponsor a free Town Hall meeting on Alzheimer's disease, Nov. 6, at the College of Lake County's main campus in Grayslake.

"Alzheimer's Disease: Service, Support, Solutions" is presented by the Greater Chicagoland Chapter, Alzheimer's Association, and will feature a panel of professional and family experts answering questions from audience members about services, support and solutions for those caring for their loved ones with Alzheimer's disease.

"The Town Hall meeting can be a major factor in beginning to educate Lake County residents about the services available in helping patients and family members deal with the disease," said James M. Spiro, president of the Greater Chicagoland Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association. "The majority of Alzheimer's families are in the position of caring for patients within the home. The town hall meeting is an opportunity to meet other families dealing with the disease and to learn more about what is available to assist families," Spiro said.

The Lake County town hall meeting is the first of four being held in the Chicago metropolitan area. Each of the three panelists will discuss basic information in their specialty areas with the bulk of the time spent answering audience questions.

Panelists will include: Dr. Elizabeth Kessler, M.D. member of the board of directors for the Great Chicagoland Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association, who is Medical Director of the in Alzheimer's assessment team at Highland Park Hospital and an attending neurologist at Highland Park Hospital and Rush North Shore Medical Center; Dan Kuhn, social worker at the Alzheimer's Disease Center at Rush Presbyterian St. Luke's will discuss caregiving and family issues; Janna Dutton, a lawyer with Monahan & Cohen of Chicago, specializing in elder law issues; and Wendy Miller, a family member who is also a member of the patient and family services committee of the Greater Chicagoland Chapter.

For registration or information on the town hall meeting, contact the Greater Chicagoland Chapter, Alzheimer's Association, (708) 933-2413.

WOMEN'S HEALTH

Dr. Linda Millon

Tension triggers impulse control disorder

DR. LINDA MILLON

Janet appears attractive and relaxed in a turquoise sweater and jeans and seems just like many women. But something is not quite right.

Nothing is extraordinary. She seems rather plain, but she has no eyebrows or eyelashes. "I don't even realize I do it sometimes until every hair is gone—I'm so embarrassed," she said. "It doesn't hurt, it sounds weird, but its kind of a relief."

Janet has what is called trichotillomania. It is an impulse control disorder, characterized by the inability to resist pulling out one's own hair, resulting in noticeable hair loss. Typical areas targeted are eyebrows, eyelashes, beard, and scalp. Often an increase in tension is experienced right before the behavior is performed. In trichotillomania, plucking one's own hair reduces the tension. The prevalence of this disorder is under-reported and therefore under-estimated because of the shame and denial experienced by those suffering it.

Janet, along with other hair pullers, has a hard time accepting her disorder. These individuals often try to conceal the plucked areas with makeup or fake eyelashes or hats. Associated behavior may include nail biting, head-banging or scratching.

Trichotillomania is more prevalent in females. Factors which may contribute to the development of trichotillomania include difficulty managing feelings of stress, early losses, fear of abandonment, and disturbances in mother-child relationships.

Treatment is often difficult and may include supportive group therapy, individual therapy habit reversal training and pharmacotherapy. Group therapy reduces isolation through peer understanding and empathy. Individual psychotherapy often focuses on anxiety reduction strategies such as progressive relaxation or behavior modification.

Habit reversal training may be taught by the therapist. An example includes competing reaction training where the subject is taught to clench her fist for three minutes just before hair pulling is about to occur. Self-recording is another tool in which the subject records the setting, the feelings, and the events surrounding each hair plucking event. From this record the therapist can often determine precipitants for the behavior. Additionally, progress can be measured by monitoring the frequency of the plucking incidents.

Psychopharmacology is yet another option. Antidepressants or anti-anxiety medications are considered viable treatments. Typically, a combination of behavior modification, supportive psychotherapy, and medication is the most successful approach, treating the disorder on a variety of different levels.

Janet and other sufferers of trichotillomania may feel odd and out of control with this impulse to hurt themselves, but education and treatment can provide some relief.

Editor's note: Linda Millon, Psy. D., is a licensed clinical psychologist and clinical director of the Womens Circle of Health at Neuropsych, a group practice in Libertyville, 367-1029. Dr. Millon is currently on staff at Condell Medical Center and St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan.

Manpower contributes to non-profit agencies

Manpower will contribute 1,000 hours of staffing assistance to United Way of Lake County and its funded agencies without charge. Depending on the amount of training and staffing used, the value of the package could total as much as $40,000.

The local Manpower company has a 15 year history of supplying loaned executives to assist United Way of Lake County in its annual fundraising campaign. The company has also contributed staffing assistance for several years.

This year marks the first time Manpower has formalized the arrangement and expanded the contribution to include management and computer training. Available training includes the Quality At Work Program, Skillware computer training, and programs in time management and professional development.

In making the contribution, Charles Bartels, Manpower franchise CEO and United Way of Lake County volunteer, said, "I feel this contribution is one way Manpower can have the largest impact on the greatest number of people throughout Lake County. United Way of Lake County supports so many different community programs which affect thousands of people, so it is the local choice to administer this contribution."

"United Way's highly skilled staff and volunteers look at human service needs county-wide, and determine how resources can best be used. United Way of Lake County provides resources—volunteers, funding, management assistance—to make the maximum impact on human needs. Our contribution will help expand the resources United Way has available," said Bartels.

The donation of staffing assistance will be equally divided between United Way of Lake County and its agencies. Some hours are being used to provide a loaned executive to work on United Way's 1995 campaign. The remaining hours will be allocated to the agencies based on need and availability.

Family support group meeting to focus on Alzheimer's disease

The Lake County Health Department, in cooperation with the Chicago Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association, will sponsor a family support group meeting on Nov. 30 from 7 to 9 p.m., in room 112 (lower level conference room) of the Lake County Health Department, 3010 Grand Ave., Waukegan.

The meeting is designed for family members who care for Alzheimer's sufferers, and will include information on disease specifics, current research, practical care techniques and community resources. In addition, time will be provided for those in attendance to share their personal experiences in caring for people with Alzheimer's disease.

The support group meeting is free. More information can be obtained by calling Sharon Roberts, Lake County Health Department, 360-6733.

Lake County Health Dept. begins pre-school immunization study

The Lake County Community Health Partnership announced it will sponsor a study to determine the immunization status of pre-school age children in Lake County. The partnership is a collaborative network of health care providers, community service organizations, businesses and community members in Lake County.

"The goal of the study is to improve delivery of health services to pre-school age children," stated Dale Galassie, executive director of the Lake County Health Department and co-chair of the Community Health Partnership Steering Committee. Each elementary school nurse in Lake County will be asked to randomly pull and copy either 20 of the child health examination records for this school year or 20 percent of the records, whichever number is higher. The records will then be analyzed by the Health System Research Office of the University of Illinois College of Medicine at Rockford.

"The advantage of conducting this study is that we are able to reach all of the children in the community," said Galassie. "Entry into school is the only time that all children in the county are assessed for immunization compliance." Although national immunization surveys have found that levels for children ages two and younger are between 70 percent and 80 percent, local information is often incomplete. In addition, it has been found that certain areas have levels less than 50 percent. "This means that there are many children out there not protected against the life-threatening diseases that proper immunizations prevent," stated Galassie.

Sally Foster, Vice-President of Community Services at United Way of Lake County and Co-Chair of the Community Health Partnership Steering Committee, explained that the information gained from this study will better enable health providers to target specific communities for services, if necessary. "This will assist us in developing our efforts to meet the national objective of 90 percent immunization compliance among children," said Foster.

Hospice Month honors caregivers

A recent nationwide Gallup poll revealed that, given six months to live, nine out of 10 Americans surveyed would choose to be cared for and die in their own home or a family member's home.

This November—National Hospice Month—Hospice of the North Shore pays tribute to the thousands of caregivers who devote their time, love, and support to the terminally ill and their families. Dorothy L. Pitner, R.N., B.S.N., M.M., president of the Palliative Care of the North Shore, of which Hospice of the North Shore is a division, says, "Hospice caregiving teams help families faced with terminal illness make the most of the life that remains. By eliminating the physical pain associated with the illness, as well as supplying necessary psychological, spiritual, and emotional support, the Hospice team can focus the patient and the family on life until death."

Public awareness of the concept of hospice appears to be on the rise. According to the National Hospice Organization, over the past five years, annual growth in the number of hospice patients nationwide has averaged 16 percent. Hospice care has helped one out of every three cancer deaths in America, as well as approximately one of every three AIDS deaths.

The term "hospice" goes back to Medieval times when it referred to a place of rest for weary or ill travelers on a long journey. The first American hospice was established in 1974 in New Haven, Connecticut. Today, the definition of hospice care involves a team of professionals and volunteers who provide medical, psychological, and spiritual support to the terminally ill, as well as support for the patient's family.

Hospice care is most often delivered in the home. However, Hospice of the North Shore recently opened a new Hospice Inpatient Unit at Evanston Hospital. This warm, home-like setting is designed for patients who need a high level of care between the hospital and returning home, or find their illness has become unmanageable at home. Patients receive hospice care in a safe secure environment, that is staff 24 hours a day and offers options for patients who need a longer length of stay.

Hospice of the North Shore's team understands that when faced with a terminal illness, many patients and family members tend to dwell on the imminent loss of life rather than making the most of the life that remains. Their care helps patients and families understand that even though death can lead to sadness, pain, and hopelessness, it can also lead to opportunities for reminiscence, laughter, and reunion.

Hospice of the North Shore is a division of Palliative Care Center of the North Shore, a community based, not-for-profit healthcare organization with offices in Evanston at 2821 Central Street and in Lake County at 118 West Lake Street, Libertyville. For more information about its many services, call 467-7423.

Parenting course focuses on positive

The Mental Health Department of Good Shepherd Hospital and the Advocate Family Care Network are offering a free course on "Parenting for Prevention" on Saturday, Nov. 11 from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the hospital.

The focus of the program is to help parents with children of any age, focus on the important life skills that parents need to help their children face the challenge of alcohol and drug use. Dr. Thomas Holden of the Family Care Network will be the featured speaker. Dr. Holden is a licensed Marriage and Family Therapist and a clinical member of the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy. Through humor and conversation, Dr. Holden will assist parents in focusing on the positive skills that children need rather than scare tactics, which often don't work.

Interested parents may register for the course and find out how to receive a free copy of the popular book "Parenting for Prevention" by David Wilmes by calling HealthAdvisor at 1-800-323-8622.

Center to offer new low vision enhancement system

A patient with low vision (20/60 or worse) works on a computer with the help of Low Vision Enhancement System distributed by Visionics Corp.

The Low Vision Enhancement System (LVES), a high-tech, head-worn video vision system that improves sight for people with low vision, is now available in the Chicago area through Vision Enhancement Center in Chicago.

Visionics Corporation, a Minneapolis-based private company, manufactures, sells, and distributes the LVES at a growing number of licensed ophthalmic centers across the country.

Vision Enhancement Center is one of 30 eye care clinics nationwide and the second site in Illinois, to date, to offer the video vision head set. The LVES was developed by a team of doctors and scientists from Johns Hopkins University Wilmer Eye Institute in conjunction with the Department of Veterans Affairs using NASA technology.

"The LVES is a high-tech device to enhance remaining sight for people with low vision," said Dr. Lipschultz, director of low vision services at Vision Enhancement Center. "It is not a miracle cure, however, for the appropriate candidate, the LVES can offer the capability to read, write, and perform other activities to maintain an independent lifestyle."

The LVES is a vision prosthetic with the potential to improve functional sight for a portion of an estimated 13 million people with low vision. The term low vision describes people whose best-corrected visual acuity is

'The LVES is a high-tech device to enhance remaining sight for people with low vision.'

— Dr. Lipschultz,
Vision Enhancement Center

20/60 or worse. Visual impairments are caused by diseases such as macular degeneration, diabetes, glaucoma and optic atrophy.

"The use of the LVES represents a paradigm shift in the application of advanced video-vision technology in the field of vision rehabilitation," said Dan Gorney, vice president of marketing for Visionics. "The LVES changes everything relative to functional solutions."

The goggle-like headset allows people to see with the aid of electronically manipulated video images projected through cameras in the headset. The LVES incorporates the principles of magnification found in conventional vision-assisted technologies such as magnifying glasses, telescopes and closed circuit television, but in a more flexible application. More importantly, though, is the LVES's ability to provide variable contrast enhancement to people who have low vision.

The suggested retail price for the LVES system is $5,195 and includes attachments such as cables to connect to TV, VCR and computer. In addition, there are professional fees associated with patient evaluation, fitting, and training.

Vision Enhancement Center, a division of Family Eyecare Associates p.c. founded by Dr. Sol J. Locke in 1950, is a private optometric low vision rehabilitation center headed by Louis L. Lipschultz, O.D. Vision Enhancement Center is dedicated to helping visually impaired individuals regain maximum functional vision. Vision Enhancement Center, a division of Family Eyecare Associates, p.c., is located at First National Bank Building, 19950 S. Governors Hwy., Olympia Fields, IL 60461. Booklet will help Spanish-speaking mothers/daughters

Having a "Facts of Life" talk with a daughter is now a little less daunting task for Spanish speaking Lake County families, thanks to a collaboration between the Lake County Health Dept., the Lake County Fighting Back Project, and Tambrands, Inc. These three organizations have combined to make "Especialmente para ti," which translates as "Especially for You," available through the health department.

"We have found that discussing the changes of puberty is an especially challenging topic for Spanish-speaking mothers," stated Dale Galassie, executive director of the Lake County Health Dept. "We feel this booklet, which will be incorporated into our Family Life Education programs, will be a great help to them."

The health department has also developed a sheet of conversation starters that will accompany the booklet. Participants of the health department's "Looking Ahead" and "Stepping Together" pregnancy prevention programs will be trained to use the booklet with younger girls to provide role models for better health choices.

The booklet was printed when the health department approached Tambrands for permission to edit their currently existing "Especialmente para ti" booklet to make it appropriate for this age group. The Lake County Fighting Back Project underwrote the printing costs after Tambrands agreed to the idea.

For further information on "Especialmente para ti," or on other Family Life Education Programs, call the Lake County Health Dept. at 360-2922.

CLC dinner-auction preparations enter home stretch

With more than $100,000 in items up for bid, excitement promises to be a sure bet when the College of Lake County Foundation holds its 1995 scholarship dinner-auction at Arlington International Racecourse on Saturday, Nov. 11.

Entitled "Winners' Circle," the fundraising event will benefit student scholarships. Guests at the gala will be enticed by more than 300 one-of-a-kind items ranging from the exotic to the romantic, the practical, to the luxurious. Offered in live and silent auction formats, the items will fall into categories that include dining, house and garden, sports, electronics, entertainment and luxury items.

As in past years, the auction will include autographed celebrity doodles. Framed by Princeton Frame and Art Gallery and Highland Art and Frame Co., both of Highland Park, the more than 20 doodles include items by such well-known personalities as Steve Martin, Carol Burnett, Neil Simon, Dudley Moore, Joe Theisman, Bruce Jenner, Jack Lemmon, Dolly Parton, Reba McEntire, and Fred Rogers (TV's "Mr. Rogers").

Also featured in this year's auction is an opportunity to be a batboy or batgirl at a Chicago Cubs home game. Other sports-related items include two tickets to the Bears game against the Philadelphia Eagles on Dec. 24; a skybox for 14 people at a Chicago Bulls game; tickets on the finish line stretch at the 1996 Indy 500 race; a signed Walter Payton jersey and more.

Other exciting items include round-trip tickets on American, US Air, and United airlines; luxurious furs; a 52-inch Zenith advanced video imaging television set; an IBM Thinkpad; an executive furniture suite in black walnut; a Raybestos gasoline-powered Indy go-cart; and week's stays at luxury condominiums in Naples, Fla., and Bear Claw resort in Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Also in the auction treasure chest are gift baskets, restaurant gift certificates, beauty supplies, dance lessons, home and auto services, signed jerseys by sports celebrities, golf packages, home appliances, lawn equipment, and more.

The gala will feature an exquisite gourmet dinner, surprise entertainment and a 50-50 raffle drawing. Tickets to the event are $135 per person. Tickets for the raffle are $10 per ticket or three tickets for $25. For complete information, call 223-6601, ext. 2401.

Holidays in Mansion combines history, crafts

This weekend, the "Holidays in the Mansion" offers a chance to see the historic Lehmann Mansion. This mansion was constructed by a wealthy Chicago family on a 96-acre estate. In addition residents can browse through a fine collection of artisan's works, and get a jump start on Christmas shopping.

The cost is only $3. The hours are from noon to 8 p.m. on Nov. 3, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Nov. 4 and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Nov. 5 at the estate located on Rte. 83 just south of Petite Lake Road in Lake Villa.

"The Lehmann family were the Macy's and

Alec Junge
Staff Reporter

the Gimbels of Chicago," said Rob Frank, caretaker of the estate.

In 1875, the Lehmanns established the Fair Department Store in downtown Chicago on the corner of Michigan and Adams Street. When it was sold in 1925, it became S.S. Kresge.

E.J. Lehmann purchased much land in the Lake Villa area and the current mansion. Lake Villa, then known as Lake City, was surrounded by resort communities. E.J. Lehmann had a dream that Lake Villa would become the premiere resort town in Lake County.

The mansion was constructed in 1912 as a "summer home." The lavish estate had amenities which fit the wealth of the family.

Included on the site was an irrigated golf course. The Lehmanns had a hobby farm complete with pigs, sheep, and a track for racing horses.

The Lehmanns bought many properties in the village, including the waterfront of the two lakes, Cedar Lake and Deep Lake, for an ice business. They also owned the Lake City Hotel.

People came up from Chicago and stopped at the old train station. From the hotel, they could walk to the lakes to fish or swim. Horseback riding also was popular.

E.J. Lehmann's dreams came to an end when he suffered a mental breakdown. He died in a sanitarium in New York in 1900.

The Lehmann family continued to own 2,000 acres of land in the Lake Villa area. One of the sons, Ernst E. Lehmann named his farm Lindenhurst. It was later subdivided and became the Village of Lindenhurst.

At Holidays in the Mansion, Frank will provide guided tours of the first floor of the mansion.

This is one of the few times people will get the opportunity to see this estate. A possible future development may spell the end of the mansion.

The property was sold to a bank trust and a developer is negotiating with the bank to develop on the land.

Besides the historical displays, 27 artisans will provide a wide variety of wares for sale. Some of the items include painting, wood work, Christmas decorations, floral arrangements, quilts and handmade baskets just to name a few.

"All were juried and needed to provide four photos of their work so we could make sure there were no conflicts with other crafters," said Alyce Brownlee, organizer. "It gave us an opportunity to check the quality of the crafts."

The crafters will be coming from throughout Lake County and as far as Deerfield and Rockford. Brownlee added there is a definitely a local flavor to it.

"Many of the craft people are village residents," Brownlee said. "We have the greatest number of people right from Lake Villa."

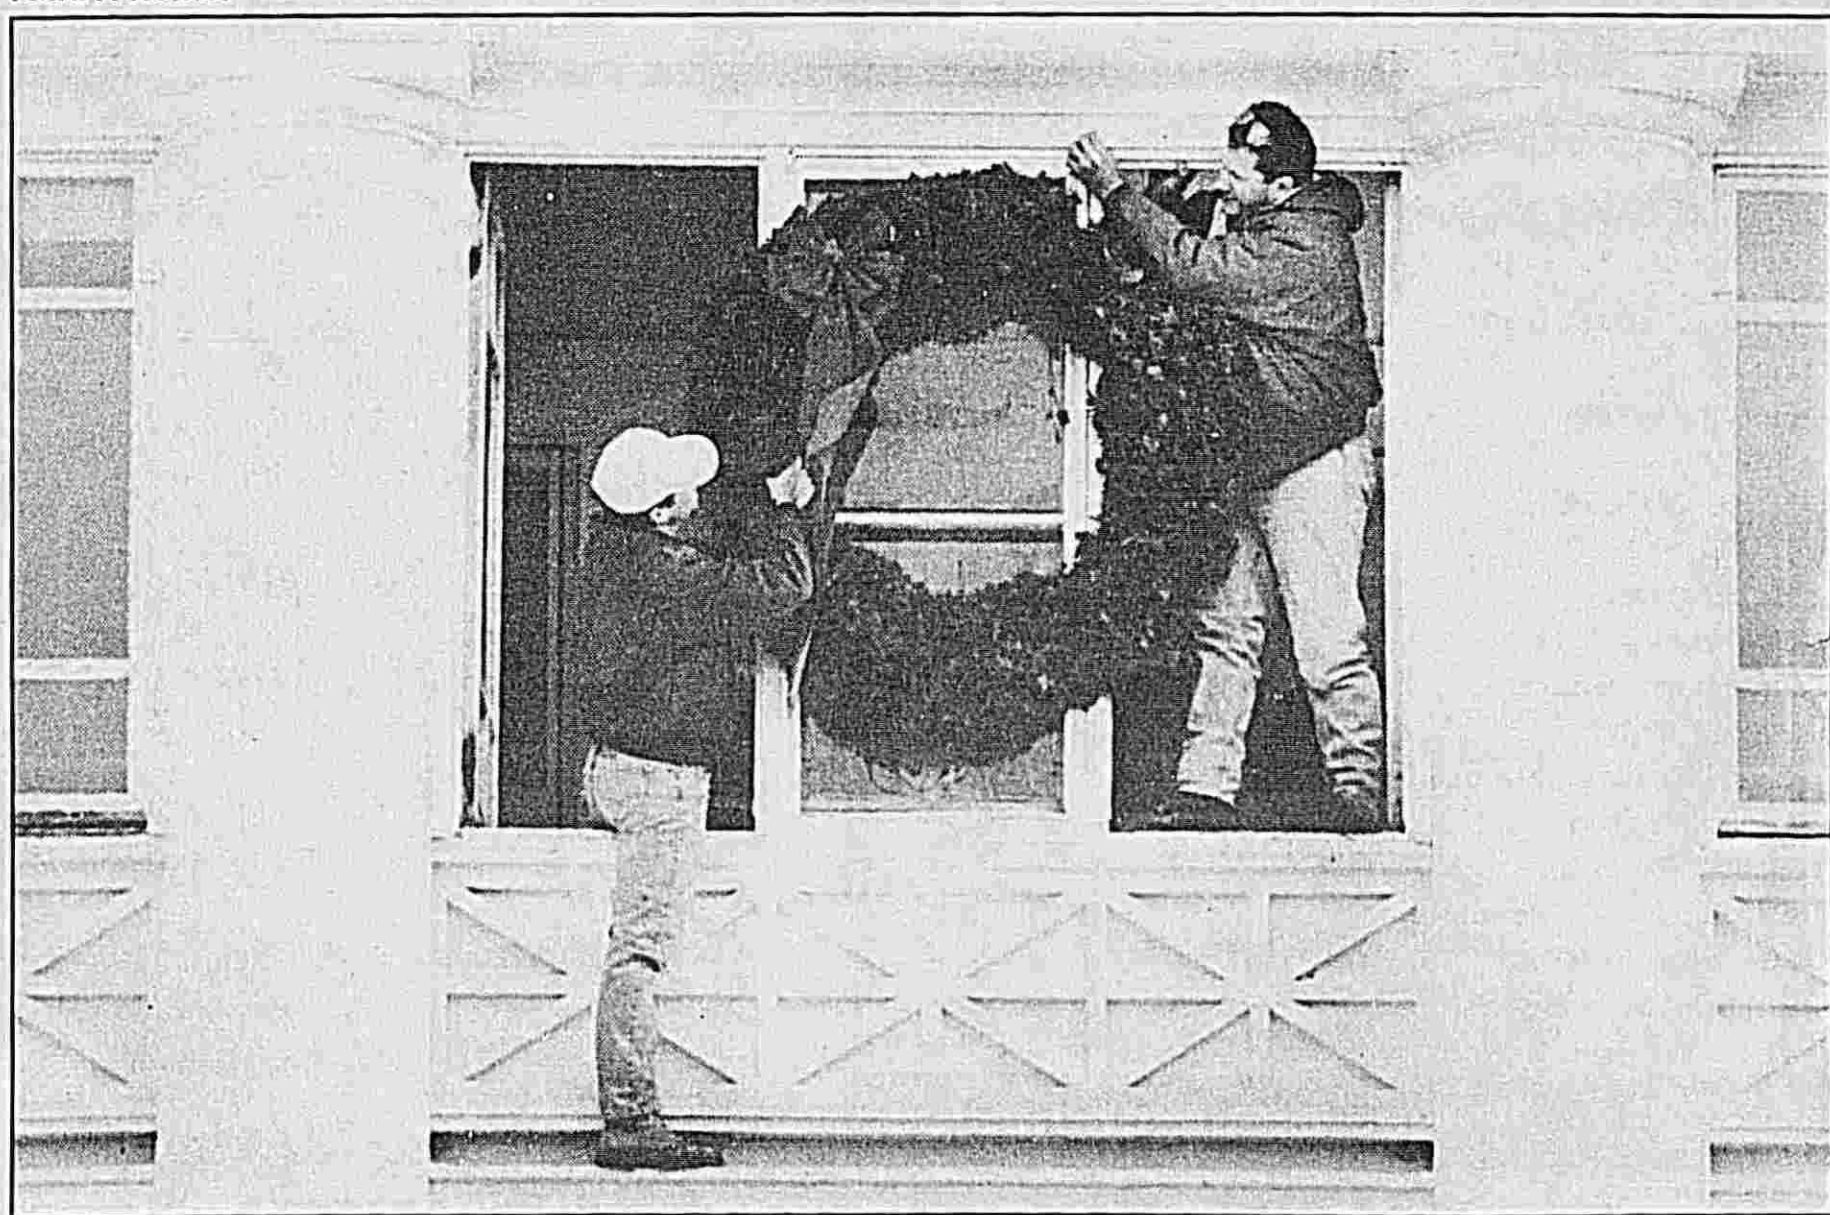

Besides crafts, there will be homemade items such as jams and jellies for sale as well.

To prepare for the show, the organizers and volunteers put up garland in many areas of the first floor. They are decorating at least three Christmas trees.

The proceeds from the event will go to help the village pay for Christmas decorations for the downtown business district.

For more information call Brownlee at 356-6100.

At right, Lake Villa public works employees Kurt Skinner, on top of ladder, and Barry Schneider hang holiday decorations in Lehmann Mansion for this weekend's "Holidays in the Mansion" craft fair. The event offers visitors a chance to view the historic mansion and to get a jump on holiday shopping. Great Blue Heron Storytelling Festival entertains young and old

The First Annual Great Blue Heron Storytelling Festival will be presented by the Barrington Area Arts Council on Saturday, Nov. 11, at the BAAC Gallery, 207 Park Ave., Barrington. This event is for children and adults who enjoy humor, mystery and intrigue through tall tales and short stories. Festival Chairperson Cathy Bayer has brought together well known storytellers throughout the area. Featured will be Ben Rosenfield, along with Bayer, Karen and Jim Decker, Vicki Elberfeld, Leanne Johnson, "Scary" Mary Norris and Scott Smith.

The day will be divided into three sessions of storytelling and workshops. The day's schedule is as follows: Session I, children's stories, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; Session II, general stories for all ages, 1:30 to 5 p.m.; and Session III, "Ghost, Goblin and Ghoulish" Stories, for which children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult, "Not-So-Scary" from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and "Very Scary" from 9 to 11 p.m. Workshops for children in grades kindergarten through fourth will start at 9:30 a.m., grades fifth through eighth at 10:30 a.m. and adults/teachers from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

The morning Children's Workshops will be taught by Bayer and the afternoon adult/teacher workshop will feature Rosenfield. Rosenfield will present an introduction to storytelling entitled, "Storytelling—A Life's Journey on Becoming a Storyteller."

Storytelling Sessions I, II and III are $5 each, or $15 for the day. Workshops are as follows: Children's, $5 each; and adult/teacher, $25. Seating is limited and reservations for each workshop are required. If available, tickets for Storytelling Sessions may be purchased at the door the day of the event. For reservations or further information, call the BAAC Gallery at 382-5626.

Comedy review looks for new talent

Boyer's Coffee, located in Woodland Commons, 322 Half Day Rd. in Buffalo Grove, will continue its live entertainment series with a night of comedy, "Comedy from the Grounds Up," from 8 to 9:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 10. There is no admission fee or cover charge.

The evening is being coordinated and hosted by popular Chicago area comedian Rhonda Cohn. Cohn is seeking new talent, area comedians who are looking for places to perform, to participate at Boyer's on Nov. 10. Persons interested in performing will be allotted five minutes for their routines, which, Cohn says, must be suitable for family audiences. Comedians must pre-register with Cohn by Monday, Nov. 6, by calling her at 634-0249.

Amsterdam, a city claimed from the sea

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

As my plane taxied to the terminal at Schiphol Airport in Amsterdam, it was hard to believe that a sea battle was once fought on this very spot.

Yes, I said a sea battle. The land on which Schiphol Airport is located was once the bottom of the sea.

In fact, over seven million of Holland's inhabitants now live on land wrested from the sea. And those hardy Dutch haven't stopped taming the mighty oceans. A new project of land reclamation will add over five percent to the nation's land area. Makes one wonder why Chicago can't keep Lake Michigan off of Lake Shore Drive!

OK, so what's there to see in this city of canals and wooden shoes?

Hop aboard one of the canal touring boats for a tour of the city. I would not suggest driving the very narrow roads that border the canals. Many a tourist has been rescued from the unguarded waterways.

You'll see the home of Rembrandt. Payments on this house put the great artist into bankruptcy.

I found a visit to the Anne Frank house a moving experience. This was where Anne Frank wrote in her diary the day-to-day ordeal of hiding from the Nazis. For more than two years, eight people lived hidden in an attic, forced to maintain nearly total silence.

For excursions outside of Amsterdam, most travel guides are going to direct you to the windmills. Frankly, I found most to be a little too touristy. I did find one working windmill still lived in on a small farm just outside a town called Weesp.

Much more impressive than the Dutch windmills are the castles not far outside of Amsterdam. Castle DeHaar, near the city of Utrecht, is right out of a fairy tale. It is open to the public when the duke is not in residence.

One last word about Amsterdam. Those ladies in the windows with the red lights are not selling lingerie!

-CRITIC'S CHOICE-

'Corpse!' pacing is deadly slow

Candlelight's Forum Theatre tips off its 1995-96 season with "Corpse!," a crime farce by Gerald Moon.

The action takes place during the Christmas holiday in London in 1936. The stage is equally divided between the posh digs of Rupert Farrant and the hovel of his twin, Evelyn.

While the set is straight forward, the ingenious plot is filled with twists and turns—the expected, along with a few surprises—as one brother puts into motion a cockamamie stratagem for murdering the other.

Roger Mueller shows his versatility in the dual role of both brothers: The wealthy businessman and the out-of-work actor.

Candlelight regular Dale Benson, as the hired gun, tends to overplay his part. As a result, some of the comic moments are a bit forced.

Marilyn Bogetich fills the bill in a minor role as the love-starved alcoholic landlady, although her performance also seems overdone at times.

Perhaps the real disappointment with the production is the pacing, which is deadly slow. If director William Pullinsi can punch it up a little, "Corpse!"

could be a winner.

"Corpse!" runs through Nov. 26, and ticket information is available at 496-3000.—by TOM WITOM

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Just another tale of navel misconduct

My OLDER brother, Marty, is coming to my home to visit, for the first time in 21 years, so it seems fitting that I choose him for this week's subject. As the one girl in the middle of two brothers, I suffered my share of tortures and teasing disguised as brotherly affection. It's only fair that I can now pay him back by revealing his dastardly deeds in public. Sort of a printed "pink belly". Ooh—this could be fun.

For those of you not fortunate enough to grow up knowing how to move your hips correctly to keep the hula hoop going, or (God forbid) never "walked the dog" with your yo-yo, odds are you are not familiar with a "pink belly" either. This is a barbaric male practice where one or more pre-pubescent males (in this case, OLDER brother Marty and friends) hold down a weaker victim (i.e. ME), lift up the victim's shirt just far enough to expose the belly, and slap it several times while laughing and shouting "Pink Belly! Pink Belly!"

I think I know where this got started. In the wild, young male gorillas make a show of dominance by flashing their teeth and pounding on their large, hairy chests. However, if you can picture a 10 to 12 year old human male flashing his braces and pounding on his hairless, skinny chest, you can easily understand why the "pink belly" practice was substituted.

Sometimes I was brave enough to pretend the "pink belly" didn't bother me, which would egg OLDER brother Marty on to his next macho trick, the "Indian burn". This is where you grab the victim's wrist (i.e. MINE) with both hands, twisting them in a rubbing motion back and forth. If done correctly, the victim will be holding their reddened wrist and yelling, "That hurt! I'm telling! M-AAAAHHHH-MMM!"

Still, why it is called an "Indian burn" is a mystery to me. I cannot imagine the Indians swooping down on the wagon trains, and then grabbing people's wrists and rubbing them. Of course, this practice could come in handy in the casino business...

Anyway, if I was feeling REALLY BRAVE (i.e. stupid), and shrugged off the Indian burn as if it were a mere nuisance, my OLDER brother would get this gleam in his eyes and say, "OK—you ASKED for it. THE ULTIMATE TORTURE! Ha, ha, ha!" (I never did figure out how I had ASKED for it—the saddle shoes I was wearing, maybe?)

Screaming, I would run away and if he caught me before I could get to Mom, I would be forced to endure what no one should ever have to—THE DREADED BELLY-BUTTON TORTURE. If any of you out there are "Innies," you know that when someone sticks their finger in your—shudder—bellybutton, it actually comes out the opposite side of your body. Really. Not to mention the lasting psychic damage, which can affect future marital intimacy. For instance, my husband is not allowed to touch what we refer to as my "psychobutton" under penalty of a month of toddler duty or death (fairly equal punishment in our house).

Yes, thanks to Marty, my OLDER brother, I have been deprived of normal navel fondling in my marital relationship. Shocking, isn't it? What seems like just a harmless, childhood prank can have lasting consequences. Yet, I can only hope that by talking openly about this type of abuse, others like myself may be saved. (No need to thank me, readers. Just doing my job.)

In the meantime, if you see me out and about during the week of November 5th, accompanied by a slender, 5 foot 8, balding man, do me a favor—HOLD HIM DOWN AND GIVE HIM A PINK BELLY.

Tell him, "Your sister sent me."

Round up of best Illinois recipes

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Cookbook editors Gwen McKee and Barbara Moseley teamed up to find the best Illinois recipes from Galena to Golconda. "The Best of the Best from Illinois" is the 17th book in their state cookbook series. The completed cookbook features more than 400 recipes from 59 leading cookbooks throughout Illinois. From "Home Cookin' is a Family Affair" is the following recipe:

Topsy Turvy Pecan Apple Pie

1/2 stick butter, softened

Pecan halves

2/3 cup brown sugar, packed

2-crust pastry

6 cups apples, sliced, mixed with 1/2 cup sugar and sprinkles of apple pie seasonings (flour, cinnamon, nutmeg)

Smooth butter around sides and bottom of pie pan. Stick pecans in butter then press brown sugar evenly over pecans. Then put on 1 layer of crust extending about an inch beyond edge of pan. Add apple mixture next, and top crust. Lap extend crust over top crust and flute edges.

Prick top with fork. Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees then reduce heat to 350 and continue baking 30-45 minutes or until done. Flip upside down to serve.

Movie Pick

Kids are the stars of 'Now and Then'

The latest "chick" movie, "Now and Then," was surprisingly the second biggest box office draw for its premier week. To date other mostly girl-type movies, such as "American Quilt," haven't played to crowded theaters.

The fact that two of Hollywood's sexiest female stars, Demi Moore and Melanie Griffith are in this one, with Moore doing the producing, may be the reason the ladies have been able to talk the men into going along with some "reel" female bonding.

Actually, a small segment in the lives of four women, a few days during the summer of 1970 when they were 12 years old, has been blown-up into an entire movie, furnishing a rather second-rate plot.

The film has the four women meeting to fulfill a promise they made after their adventures of that bygone summer which included the building of a dream tree house, solving an old mystery, a brush with death, and dealing with a certain loss of innocence which could seem trivial by 1995 standards, but is indicative of the way the world was 25 years ago.

The flashbacks to the four pre-teens are the best parts of the picture, rivaled only by the scene where Dr. Rosie O'Donnell delivers Rita Wilson's baby. They play the other two girls grown up.

Stealing the picture from some of film's highest paid "big girls" are Thora Birch, Griffith as a young girl; Gaby Hoffman as 12-year-old Moore; Christina Ricci as the tom-boy who grows into O'Donnell, and Ashleigh Aston Moore doing a good job of precluding Wilson's prissy adult persona.

Gaby Hoffman, Ashton Moore, Christina Ricci and Thora Birch

The girls' personalities don't seem to mature as much as their bodies do.

The picture is rated PG-13. Its innocence, though at times boring, and almost too saccharin to digest, is rather refreshing in these days when eight out of every 10 films is filled with quality kills, blood and hard language.

Pre-teen girls and maybe their moms should be the core of this film's audience. It will also be appreciated by women who remember how wonderful it was to play "Truth or Dare," and do everything to look, dress and act alike.

The picture will bring back memories of the thrill of first noticing that boys could play havoc with one's inner feelings, but most of all it will help recall how important it can be to know the warmth and security of belonging to a peer group that really cares.

It's a feel-good movie that rates three out of five stars, with the kids riding rough shod over their adult counterparts.--by

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You haven't really been tending to much on the home front, so make an effort to correct this early in the week. Although you feel swamped, tackling one task at a time has you all caught up by week's end.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Although you've been looking forward to a special time with a loved one, plans will have to be unexpectedly canceled and put off for another time. The weekend is favored for getting off by yourself in quiet solitude.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A friend disappoints you early in the week by reneging on a previous commitment. A co-worker is likely to disagree with you about a work project, but you can overcome this with cool logic. Tend to finances this weekend.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Make an effort to rein in your scattered energies, particularly where work is concerned. Going off in a million different directions leads to little or no productivity. Creatively, you're on a roll this weekend.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You feel caught up in a veritable labyrinth of details on the job early in the week. However, don't let this get you down. By week's end, you are able to successfully extricate yourself from this mess.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This isn't a good time to indulge in socializing. Instead, pay more attention to family members and domestic concerns. Later in the week, a new opportunity arises on the job. You score a major coup in business.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You're just not connecting with your significant other early in the week. Relax and let this person come to you. Something which has concerned you on the work front reaches a happy conclusion before you end the week.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You'll feel as though you want to scream with frustration early in the week, when you're constantly interrupted by pesky phone calls. However, one of those calls leads to an exciting new opportunity. Take full advantage of it.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You're faced with a touchy decision as the week begins. Feel free to seek help from a trusted friend or family member. Later in the week, a family matter requires your attention, particularly if it concerns a child.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You could allow yourself to be thrown off track when you experience a delay on the work front. This shouldn't cause you to slacken up. Instead, apply yourself even more energetically than usual.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) The accent this week is on creativity and romance. However, make sure your feet are firmly planted on the ground since much needs to be tended to on the work front. Extra expenditures could arise when socializing.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You need to weed through the conflicting information you're receiving before you can finally gain a clear perspective at work. Some could be faced with a minor medical emergency later in the week. Catch up on your rest this weekend.

WHERE TO EAT OUT

FEATURE OF THE WEEK

Terry's voted No. 1 for Mexican food in Lake County

Terry's was voted number one for best Mexican food two years in a row in Lake County. Sherman Kaplan awarded the establishment 16 K out of 20. Terry's surely has something to please everyone's palate.

Start your dining adventure with some wonderful appetizers such as a spinach and mushroom quesadilla, crab stuffed mushrooms, chicken wings, or Texas torpedoes. Then feast on all the great things on the menu. Paella for two, Tornados de la Casa, pork or beef tenderloin chilaqueles, Nachos Imperial for two, peppered chicken, Tex-Mex steak, shrimp and peaches, N.Y. strip asada, as well as the regular Mexican fare.

For seafood lovers, lobster tail or king crab legs margarita, filet of salmon or swordfish steak, fruta del mar, shrimp salad, and catfish with a variety of toppings.

Friday and Saturday, Terry's is offering rotisserie specials such as chipotle roasted duck or chicken. Beef tenderloin and roasted pork are also chipotle flavored. Those entrees are truly delicious.

Don't leave without trying one of Terry's homemade desserts: cherry and apple chimichangas, mousse of the day, or ice cream pie.

Cable T.V. in the lounge insures you won't miss the game.

Visit Terry's Mexican Restaurant, 325 N. Seymour in the Hawley Commons, Mundelein. Hours are 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday; Saturday 4 to 10 p.m.; closed Sunday. Carry out menu is available. Gift certificates available in any amount. Wheelchair accessible. No smoking section. Reservations highly recommended. Visa, MasterCard, Discover, and American Express are accepted.

Don't forget to plan early for your next event in the party room, which holds up to 60. Call 566-9530.

Tandy Corp will open two Incredible Universe gigastores

Tandy Corp. will open two Incredible Universe consumer electronic gigastores in the Chicago metropolitan area in 1996. One of the gigastores will be a new anchor at Gurnee Mills Mall, and the other will be located near the intersection of I-355 and I-88 in Downers Grove.

Chicago is the first market where we have announced two Incredible Universe sites simultaneously," said Tandy Chairman and Chief Executive Officer John V. Roach. "Two store locations will give us a stronger presence in the market, and provide more convenience to our guests."

Incredible Universe is the largest consumer electronics store in the world. Typical Incredible Universe gigastores generate approximately $55 to $65 million in annual sales in their first full year, mature locations may record as much as $80 to $100 million in annual sales. Each gigastore employs approximately 350 people.

Often compared to an electronics trade show for their excitement and cutting-edge product selection, Incredible Universe is a unique shopping experience with a proven reputation for selection, value and fun. An estimated 700,000 customers visit each gigastore every year, and more than 70 percent are repeat customers.

Incredible Universe has the largest selection of name-brand electronics and appliances under one roof—more than 85,000 different products including televisions, video games, software, computers, auto sound, home audio, video equipment, music and movie titles, major appliances, and personal electronic items. Product displays are intended to be invited and interactive, and guests are encouraged to "please, play with the merchandise!"

The action-packed environment inside Incredible Universe also sets it apart from its competitors. Special promotions, events and attractions are part of the fun held on a regular basis. Each gigastore has a disc jockey who entertains guests with music and multimedia presentations on a giant video display. Guests can "star" in their own music videos at the Karaoke Studio, or test their skills at Virtual Reality and computer games.

Using technology available today, four state-of-the-art Multimedia Rooms provide guests with an "up-close and personal" feel for multimedia applications in the home or office. These rooms feature a combination of video teleconferencing, full motion video equipment, personal computers, home theater systems and DSS (Digital Satellite Technology). For personal compute users, the newest creation in the Universe is a multimedia "library" with more than 2,500 different CD-Rom software titles.

Incredible Universe also has an in-store McDonald's restaurant and KidzView, a supervised children's play area filled with electronic toys and games for kids ages 3 to 9. Other services include a computer-equipped Kitchen Design Center, a Computer Upgrade Center, and a Financial Center for immediate credit applications to qualified shoppers.

Firm makes major expansion in Grayslake

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Near the heart of Grayslake is 15 acres of land zoned for industrial purposes. This is a significant area to develop for any number of companies in the small village, but even more significant is that one company alone plans to utilize the entire space inside 10 years.

Seamline Welding is a manufacturing firm located in five buildings just north of Rte. 120 on Atkinson Rd. It distributes and sells stainless steel tubing and pipe to customers around the world employing a present-day work force of 27.

When moving the 40-year-old family company out of Chicago two years ago, owner Dean Johnson looked for a community with small town appeal, a place he and his wife could become active in civic functions and especially a place suitable for raising his children aged six years old to 18. Grayslake fit his needs.

"There are a lot of involved people here in Grayslake," Johnson said.

In the time he has been in the community, Johnson himself has become involved. He is a member of the Chamber, Economic Development commission and a centennial planning committee. He was also the sealed bid sponsor of the Grayslake Centennial celebration this past August.

"The cost is irrelevant in the sense of how my wife and I and family picture the community," Johnson said, adding he believes what is good for the community is good for his business.

To the village's benefit, Grayslake is the community in which Seamline will expand its operations. Seamline broke ground last month on a new 16,000-foot precast concrete building while remaining in its current buildings as well, thereby doubling its square-footage. Johnson is proud the building will be esthetically pleasing to the community. As a member of the economic development commission, it meets the requirements he expects from any other business in town.

"We want to make a good impression when companies like 3-M and Ford come to town," Johnson said.

The overall expansion plan is aggressive. In seven to nine years, Seamline intends to occupy the entire 15 acres. The total building square-footage will be in the area of 140,000 square feet. Johnson doesn't feel the expansion is too aggressive. In the past five years, his gross sales have grown an average of 15 percent annually.

With the first expansion, which encompasses 2 acres, will come an increase in work force to 40 employees in the next 18 months. The problem associated with this is the shortage of a skilled, blue collar labor pool in Lake County.

Johnson has taken a proactive approach by linking up with another Grayslake entity, the College of Lake County. He will be sponsoring a program where technical students can get on-the-job training and experience. After graduation, a few of them may find a job in Grayslake as well.

Dean Johnson, owner of Seamline Welding in Grayslake, looks through a six-inch perforated stainless steel tube designed for filtration equipment. The company, which makes a variety of stainless steel tubing items for a world wide market, plans to expand to nearly nine times its present size in the next decade.—Photo by Todd F. Helsler

Subdivision preserves history with schoolhouse

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

When the majority of Lake County's rural countryside is scraped clean and reborn as new homes or businesses, at least one reminder from the area's history will remain. Prairie Crossings, a unique subdivision south of Grayslake, has moved the Wright Schoolhouse to a permanent foundation at the market square in the community.

"Prairie Crossings started from the position that the landscape and the history of the area are something worth saving," said Vicky Ranney, vice president of developer Prairie Holdings Corporation.

The Wright Schoolhouse, one of the only remaining one-room schoolhouses in Lake County, originally stood a mile east of the Prairie Crossing on the south side of Casey Rd. in Libertyville Township. A one-room school was first built there in 1857 when land owner Thomas Phelps leased the school commissioners one half acre of his 80-acre farm.

Phelps stipulated that if the school ever ceased being a school, ownership of the building would revert to the owner of the surrounding land. An 1873 county land plat shows that Silas Wright was owned the farm, and the family name has been associated with the school building ever since. For more than six decades, members of the Wright family were involved in Libertyville school boards.

In 1959, the Wright School closed when the district was annexed into Libertyville Elementary School District 70. According to the 100-year old lease, the land reverted back to the owner. Mike and Lou Salerno, who later bought the property, decided to build a larger house on the property in 1991.

At that time, the house was moved to See HISTORY page C5

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Utilities seek performance rates

LAKE COUNTY—The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Co. and North Shore Gas Co. filed requests with the Illinois Commerce Commission study and approve performance-based rate programs related to the utilities' charges for gas costs. These are the first such proposals filed under a new Illinois law authorizing experiments with performance-based rates and other new forms of regulation for gas and electric utilities. The utilities, both subsidiaries of Chicago-based Peoples Energy Corp., are making the requests due to changes in the gas industry—in particular, wellhead deregulation and pipeline service unbundling—that offer new opportunities for gas supply cost-minimization and revenue-enhancement strategies.

Farm breeds top sire

WAUCONDA—7H5155 Golden-Oaks NOME-RED-ET, a young sire bred by Golden Oaks Farms, Wauconda, has been chosen to enter Select Sires' Program for Genetic Advancement (PGA) sire sampling system. Based on his outstanding pedigree, NOME-RED has been selected as one of 200 Holstein bulls from throughout the United States to enter the program in 1995. In addition to being sampled through PGA Cooperator herds, this young sire has been selected as a super sampler. With the designation, he is available to all interested Holstein breeders. Select Sires has a reputation for offering America's best. The July 1995 sir summary substantiates this claim. With six of the top 18 TPI™ sires on Holstein's Top 100, Select Sires is the source for superior genetics. Serving the largest number of AI co-op members nationwide, Select Sires' mission is to supply America's best genetics through its 11 member cooperatives.

Newborns get safe ride home

BARRINGTON—In a continuing effort to ensure the safety of young passengers, Midas dealer Marc Karey has donated six car seats to a loan program administered by the Good Shepherd Hospital Birth Center. Karey made the donations as part of his ongoing involvement in Project Safe Baby, a public awareness program designed to focus attention on the importance of using child safety seats. In addition, Karey and more than 80 other area Midas dealers make Century 1000 car seats available to consumers for the wholesale price of $42. When the consumer is finished with the seat, he or she can return it and receive $42 in services at Midas. Karey makes the car seats available at his shops in Carpentersville, Schaumburg, Lake Zurich and Crystal Lake.

Auction set for 21 new homes

A collection of 21 homesites and two homes within the Boulder Ridge Country Club community in Lake in the Hills will be offered for sale at auction Sunday, Nov. 19. The auction, conducted by Chicago-based Sheldon Good & Company, will be held at noon, at the Holiday Inn Crystal Lake, 800 S. Route 31.

Located on Algonquin Road, just west of Randall Road, Boulder Ridge is a 500-acre private gated community surrounding an 18-hole, 7,000 yard Fuzzy Zoeller-designed championship golf course. Offering golf, social and dining memberships to new residents, The Boulder Ridge Country Club features a number of facilities including a clubhouse, swimming pool and tennis courts.

"We have chosen to offer a select number of model residences and homesites via an accelerated marketing program in order to achieve our year-end sales goals," said Dave Plote, vice president of Par Development Corporation, adding that "the auction will be buyers' only opportunity to purchase these homes and homesites at substantial discounts."

Beginning Oct. 29, the public can view the properties on Saturdays and Sundays from noon to 3 p.m.

To reach the community, take I-90 west to Randall Road, north to Algonquin Rd. (Rt. 62), turn west and proceed to the entrance of Boulder Ridge following signs to the Auction Information Center in the pool house.

Sheldon Good & Company has sold more than $6 billion of residential and commercial real estate at auction. The firm was founded in 1965, and has offices in 10 U.S. cities and Canada.

For bidder information kits on any of the properties listed, contact Sheldon Good & Company, (312) 630-0915.

Farm income tax school set for area tax practitioners

Lake County tax practitioners and consultants will update their knowledge of federal income tax rules and regulations during several two-day schools. Local programs will be offered at the following sites: Rockford, Nov. 2 and 3; Crystal Lake, Nov. 16 and 17; Joliet, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1; Elgin, Dec. 7 and 8; and DeKalb, Dec. 12 and 13. Other dates and locations are available.

Advance registration is required and only those who have pre-enrolled will be able to attend. The registration fee is $85. School enrollment will be limited to the number that can be accommodated comfortably, and enrollees will be assigned to locations on a first-come/first-served basis. More detailed information and enrollment applications are available from the Farm Income Tax School Office, 147 Bevier Hall, 905 S. Goodwin Ave., Urbana, Ill. 61801, or phone (217) 333-0502. A limited supply of applications are available at the Lake County Extension Office, 100 S. U.S. Hwy. 45, Grayslake, Ill. 60030, or phone 223-8627.

MURPHY ON REAL ESTATE

Terri Murphy

Is it hidden treasures or just plain old junk?

In the event you ever have inherited a property, or bought an old estate you may be saddled with disposing of the personal effects that came "with" the property. Many times when an estate is inherited, the property is filled with what seems to be old "junk" that needs to be gone. Before throwing anything away, or having a garage sale, read on.

Many times I have been asked to do a market analysis on a property where an older person has died and the family lives elsewhere and the property is loaded with "stuff." A property will show much better when clutter has been removed and the home is "staged" properly. According to Jerry and Carole Dinelli of "Noble House" in Mundelein people call them in to appraise the personal property too late. The Dinelli's offer consultations, appraisals and marketing of the full spectrum of household goods. After interviewing them on my recent radio talk show, they confirmed that most people sell valuable items for pennies at a garage sale because they are uninformed.

As a real estate professional, it is often part of our full service program to offer a list of ancillary services to assist the seller or the seller's representatives in marketing a home. Although our main service is marketing the real estate, we must offer information services that will help the home sell quickly and easily.

When a spouse dies, often times the surviving spouse does not want to deal with disposing of the personal affects like clothes, jewelry and furniture. As a marketing expert, we know that the home must be staged to show the best and generally needs to be simplified for better feedback. If the executor of an estate lives in a different part of the country, they will ask for the names of services that can help sell or buy the personal effects in the estate they have just inherited.

It is important to know that seniors are faced with the problem quite often of what to do with the rooms full of personal property they have collected over they years when they finally decided to move to warmer climate. The kids only want so much and they are not willing to spend the time and effort running garage sales to get rid of the furniture, books, toys and household appliances they no longer need.

Services like Noble House can assist a homeowner on the value of the contents of a home in every facet. Carole Dinelli points out that "just because something is old does not necessarily mean it has value." She went on to say that many people are unaware of the value of simple things like toys, dolls fountain pens, coins artwork rugs and many other collectibles. After 10 years in the business with authorship in 14 different monthly columns, the Dinelli's offer a valuable expertise for those of us that have no idea of the value of personal property that we have in our homes. The Dinelli's recommendation is that a paid appraisal or consultation can prevent mistakes when you are faced with liquidating the personal assets of a home you purchase or inherit.

BUSINESS EVENTS

IFMA to meet

The monthly meeting of the Northern Illinois Chapter of the International Facility Management Assn. (IFMA) will be held at 5:30 p.m. on Nov. 7 at McDonald's Hamburger U., 2715 Jorie Blvd., Oak Brook. The meeting will include a tour of the facility and a program entitled "Facility Management, a Board Room Perspective." Admission, which includes dinner, is $15 for IFMA members and $20 for non-members. For reservations call (815)469-7410 by noon, Nov. 3.

Homeowners seminars

Coldwell Banker of Libertyville will be conducting seminars for the benefit of homeowners who have elected to undertake the task of selling their home themselves. The informational seminar is designed to instruct sellers in the areas of contracts, legal obligations, credit review, survival of a home inspection, preparation of the home and marketing. Guest speakers will include Betsy Wolf Friedstet of Ray and Glick, Kevin Freely and Nancy Cooper of The Home Team Inspection Service and Dave Areen PNC Mortgage.

The seminar is being offered on Saturdays, Nov. 18. This community service is being offered free of charge to homeowners who are planning to sell in the future or are currently attempting "For Sale By Owner." Seating is limited. Contact Florence Emiling at Coldwell Banker, 367-4900 to reserve a seat. Each seminar will begin at 10 a.m. and will be held at the Lake County Assessor's office, 359 Merrill Ct., Libertyville.

Consultants Roundtable

The Consultants Roundtable, aimed at consultants, professionals and small business owners will be host to Matthew R. Versaggi, MS, MBA, Versaggi and Associates. The topic will be "Internet: Opportunities for Small Businesses." Learn about the Internet from someone who has been there from the start. A published author of numerous articles in academic and national journals, Versaggi, is currently authoring a book on the application of the Internet to international business with Robert Wilkus, president of WorldLink, Inc. The seminar will be held Saturday, Nov. 11 with registration beginning at 7:30 a.m., program at 8 a.m. and ends approximately 10:30 a.m. at the Destiny Restaurant, 1440 Rand Rd., DesPlaines. Cost is $15 for members and guests for first meeting, $25 to all others, which includes breakfast. For reservations call Cathy Rough or Jon Shimberg at (312)663-5575.

ABWA meeting

The Grayslake/N.E. Ill Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Assn. (ABWA) will hold their meeting Nov. 9 at 6 p.m. at the State Bank of the Lakes, 50 Commerce Dr., Grayslake. The sponsor of the month, Tom Reeves, of Equitable of Waukegan will award the "Student of the Month" with a U.S. Savings Bond. The speaker of the evening is Barbara Richardson-Cannon, charter member of the chapter. She will speak on "Day in the Life of the Lake County Coroner." A light supper will be served and reservations are needed. Call Sue at 623-8692 to make a reservation.

Medical claims

There will be a seminar to assist those dealing with Workmans

Compensation Medical Claims issues Wednesday, Nov. 4 from 9 a.m. to noon at the Marriott Suites Deerfield. The speaker will be Robert J. Malooly, chairman of the Industrial Commission of Illinois. The seminar is being sponsored by Certified Services Inc., an accounts receivable management firm from Waukegan. "Healthcare Professionals have expressed a tremendous interest in a seminar that deals only with filing and follow-up of Workmans Comp Claims" says Robert J. Mauch, president of Certified Services Inc. He continued, "This is too large of a topic to cover at our regular collection seminars. This one will clarify the law, rules and procedures necessary to know and there will be plenty of time of questions." The cost is $45. For a reservation form call 623-6440.

Surf the Internet

The American Management Assn. will present, live via satellite, "A Step-by-Step Guide to the Internet" on Wednesday, Nov. 8 in Vernon Hills.

The three-hour interactive training event and on-line demonstration will be held at Three Hawthorn Parkway Building, Rte. 60, Suite 130, Vernon Hills. Classroom size is limited, so reservations are required. Tuition is $159 per participant. To register or for more information, call 1(800)821-3919 or (913)345-2140.

Bio-Green hosts meeting

Bio-Green, Inc., will host a public presentation on "Safe and Non-toxic Tree, Shrub, and Lawn Care." Topics addressed include: what is the status of the environment and where is it going; is your lawn care safe for you, your family, and friends; choosing a soil building program as an investment in your family's health and your home's asset value; and health and safety of you, your family and friends.

The presentation will be Tuesday, Nov. 14, 7 p.m., at the Libertyville Civic Center, 135 W. Church St., Libertyville. Refreshments will be served. To register call (800) 476-2696.

Incredible Universe places a high priority on service. More than 350 cast members (employees) spend at least 10 percent of their time in product and customer service training classes at the store's Incredible University. The cast members in this non-commissioned sales environment provide extraordinary information, demonstration and service to the customer.

Fifteen Incredible Universe gigastores are currently open in the metropolitan markets.

History

the community supported garden area of Prairie Crossing and placed on blocks. When remodeling is completed at its new location, near the subdivision entrance off Rte. 45, the school house will be used as a coffee and sandwich shop, mailing service area and a support facility for those residents with home-owned businesses.

Nearby, Ranney said an 1880s dairy barn will be placed on a foundation. The authentic barn came from a farm on Rte. 21 where the Reserve at the Merit club is now located. The barn is already sitting in pieces in a shed at the community supported garden.

The preservation of historical landmarks in the county follows the same type of thinking that brought Prairie Crossing into existence. Dubbed a conservation community by its developers, Prairie Crossing will have a total of 317 homes with 60 percent of the land being set aside as open space.

"It's important for people moving into new houses to know the real history of the place where they live and feel a connection to people in the neighborhood," Ranney said.

When renovations are complete, Prairie Crossing is hoping to have a reunion of former students who attended the school to aid in the re-opening of the building. Former students are being asked to call Vicky Ranney 548-4062.

Business succession planning

Succession planning is very important for a family owned business. Before you sit down with your tax and legal advisors to draw up a succession plan, you should think through three key issues: who do you want to succeed you; when do you want the transition to take place; and how do you want to structure the transition.

The question of who will succeed you in the business can be the toughest of all, largely because there is so much emotion involved. Most owners want to pass the business on to the family. But are your children willing to take on the business, and if so, are they capable of running it? Will it cause a family squabble if one or two children want to run the business, but others are not interested? Resolving these issues may take a lot of honest, open discussion with family members to discover their true feelings. If there is not an obvious family successor, other alternatives include selling the business to an outsider, promoting an existing employee to head the business while you retain ownership, or even selling the business to the employees.

When you make the transition depends on a number of factors, such as your age, health, retirement goals and the readiness of a successor. Consider whether you want to maintain some involvement with the business or make a clean break. Remember, though, you should always have a contingency succession plan in case of sudden death or disability.

How you structure the transition depends partly on the answers to the earlier questions and partly on financial considerations. Think through issues such as whether you need retirement income from the business or whether you primarily want to minimize estate taxes. Knowing your goals for the transition will make it much easier to tailor a succession plan that fits your specific situation.

Every family-owned business should have a succession plan to provide a smooth transition of ownership upon the owner's death or retirement. Each plan will be different, depending on the owner's wishes and the particular circumstances of the business. Here are some of the planning techniques you may want to consider.

A buy-sell agreement provides for family members, partners or the business itself to buy back the owner's shares upon certain specified events such as death, disability or retirement. The agreement specifies the details of the sale and usually includes a pricing formula. Purchase of the stock is often funded by life insurance policies owned by the company or family members. Advantages are that the transfer of ownership is spelled out in advance, shares are kept out of the hands of competitors, and proceeds from the sale of the shares can be used to offset estate taxes.

Gifting shares or partnership interests to family members can be an effective way to transfer ownership of the business over time. The law allows an annual tax-free transfer of $10,000 to each recipient. As an added advantage, the IRS allows you to discount the shares below their appraised value if they are a "minority interest" which does not control the business.

Employee stock ownership plans (ESOPs) offer a tax-advantaged way to sell your business if you have no family successors. Special tax rules allow you to sell the company to your employees via an ESOP and invest the proceeds in stocks and bonds meeting certain tests without being taxed on the gain. Employee-run businesses have had mixed success, however, so you should consider factors other than just the tax benefits.

These are just a few of the many planning techniques available to closely held businesses. Contact us if you'd like to discuss a succession plan for your business.

Fall Foliage

Unusually high needle loss on conifers is no cause for alarm

From honey locusts, to crab apples to elms, this year has been tough on a variety of trees in the Lake County area. Now it's the conifers' turn. Actually, conifers might look like they're suffering, but in most cases they're not.

Just as deciduous trees drop their leaves in fall, so do the needle-bearing ones. This year, however, homeowners and property managers might notice their evergreens losing more needles than usual.

"People are calling us concerned that their trees are dying," says Rex Bastian, PhD, staff entomologist and director of technical services for Hendricksen the Care of Trees. "They see what can be a large portion of the needles turning yellow and think something is happening. The needles are indeed dying, but it's part of the annual shedding of the trees' oldest needles—called seasonal needle cast."

According to Abstein, conifers lose anywhere from 5 percent to 33 percent of their needles each year. Different species lose needles at different rates. White pines will hold only the needles grown this year and last year, dropping those formed two years ago. White spruces can hold their needles 12 to 14 years before dropping them. Environmental conditions and the health of the tree will also affect the loss rate. Trees in shade or under stress do not hold their needles as long as others.

One possible cause for the higher loss that people are observing this fall is the wet spring and hot summer of 1995, says Abstein. He also explains that trees had a strong growing season a few years ago. For conifers such as white pines, which hold their needles only a few years, the heavier needle loss could be related to the abundance of needles formed during that growth spurt.

Although homeowners and property managers need not be concerned about this year's heavy needle cast, they should check to see that the needles involved are older ones—those that are farthest inside the tree. If needles toward the trunk of the tree are turning yellow and dropping, the tree is undergoing seasonal needle cast. If needles formed this year, or those on the outside of the tree, are turning yellow and dropping, the tree might be suffering from one of several fungal diseases, including diplodia tip blight.

Diplodia tip blight is a fungal disease of Austrian, Scots, mugo and red pines. The disease does not usually kill trees but results in brown shoot tips that many people find unattractive. Cool, wet spring weather, such as this year's, is conducive to diplodia, which becomes visible in fall. Nothing can be done to treat diplodia now. However, a series of fungicide treatments next spring can help manage the disease.

It broke our hearts to lose you
But you didn't go alone
Part of us went with you
The day God took you home
Perhaps all of the tomorrows
Would be easier to bear
If only one yesterday
We could again share
However we know
This can never be true
But we continue to cherish
All our memories of you.*

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

G: Dear...Search: I have been employed as a temporary for a major corporation for a period of one year to the day. My position when brought in was said that if I work for a period of one year as a temporary then I will be up for permanent hire by the company. Well, my year has just been blown away. On my so-called anniversary the head of Personnel (or Human Resources as they now call it), came to me and told me that if I could pass a typing test then I will be hired on by their company. The criteria was that I had to type at least 45 wpm. I was caught off guard but I took the test only to find out that I can only type 36 wpm by their standards. Needless to say, I am now jobless. How can a company make a promise to hire you after one year and then pull the rug out from under you with some lame test? V.G. - Glenview.
A: Dear V.G. It sounds as though perhaps the company had set standards as to what requirements may prevail for certain positions. You have failed to mention what type of position you were holding as a temporary. The reason I say this is because if you were working in the accounting department as a general clerk, perhaps the position they were going to offer required data entry with a typing speed requirement. This is a scenario that you will find in large corporations. Requirements to set corporate standards. I would not, however, burn my bridges with the company. They have had the opportunity to check out your capabilities for a full year. You both have time invested in each other. Check with Human Resources or your Employment Counselor to see if there may be employment opportunities in other areas. Perhaps you will want to be in touch with your immediate supervisor (the person you reported directly to) and ask that a possible good word be put in by him or her in your favor. Good luck to you.
Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

PET OF THE WEEK

Still Waiting...

The "dog days of summer" may be gone, but the dogs are still here - at Orphans of the Storm. This summer was nearly record breaking in the number of dogs that came to the shelter desperate for food, love and care. We are currently housing over TWO HUNDRED of the nicest and most attractive stray, lost and abandoned pets you'll see anywhere. We have small, mid-size and large dogs in every breed mix, color, shape and coat type possible. We also have some pure-breeds. They all have one thing in common: THEY WANT A HOME. Shelter life is not ideal; dogs require food and care and these we can give. But they also need love, companionship and a sense of being part of a family, and these intangibles are something a shelter can not truly provide. If you have a dog that would love a buddy or if you are without a dog and would like to have a wet nose and a wagging tail to fill your home with joy, we have a special four-legged friend for you, whose capacity for love and loyalty is boundless. When you adopt a pet, you save a life. Please come visit us today! Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow-up care, and much more. Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. - 5 p.m., seven days a week. Call (708) 945-0235 for further information.

CANNONADE
Has your family grown over the past few years, or are your children reaching the age when they need some privacy? Perhaps if the house in which you currently reside doesn't seem as big as it once did, it might be time to take a good look at the 2383 square foot Cannonade. With the master suite isolated on one side of the floor plan, and the remaining bedrooms on the other, your privacy as well as that of children or guests is assured.
The luxurious master suite is sure to please anyone that values comfort and practicality. Large enough for a complete bedroom set as well as a treadmill or stair-stepper for the health conscious, the amenities here are many. They include independent access to the back deck, a huge walk-in closet and a private bathroom with twin basins and separate tub and shower.
The living room and dining room are open to each other, enhancing the spaciousness of this winning floor design. The living room, with a wall of windows to let you enjoy the view, boasts a built-in fireplace to keep those winter evenings cozy.
The walk-through kitchen, placed conveniently between the dining and family room, features a walk-in pantry, island cooktop, double ovens and garden window. While the gang plays ping pong or air hockey in the skylit family room, the cook in the house can rustle up some hot snacks without missing out on the conversation. In the summertime, set up the barbecue and shift the fun out onto the roomy back deck.
To the front of the home, the formal entry is adjacent to a small den. The isolated room would also be an ideal location for a home office. A full bathroom is off the hallway leading to the other two bedrooms. One is angular and slightly larger, although both have ample closet space. A utility room, with built-in ironing board, has been thoughtfully placed near the inside garage door. The two-car garage has been extended on the side to create a shop area for the do-it-yourself person or hobby enthusiast.

Fall produces a cornucopia of local holiday art, craft fairs

Gurnee Mills

Exhibitors from Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and South Dakota will have their arts and crafts on display and for sale at Gurnee Mills Holiday Art & Craft Show. Show days are Nov. 3 and 4 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Nov. 5 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Pheasant Run

With over 175 dealers featured, the Pheasant Run Antique Show is a delight for all collectors. It will run at the Pheasant Run Resort in St. Charles on Nov. 3 from noon to 9 p.m., Nov. 4 from noon to 7 p.m., and Nov. 5 from noon to 5 p.m.

The Mega Center and Ballroom hold aisle after aisle of exquisite treasures from times past. Antique lovers can browse through booths stocked full of early glass, pottery, porcelain, lighting, clocks, linens, jewelry, copper, silver and select styles of furniture.

The Pheasant Run Resort is located on Rte. 64 (North Avenue) in St. Charles, approximately two miles west of Rte. 59. Admission is $6 and parking is free. For more information call Kennedy Productions at 515-1160.

Christmas Goose Craft Show

More than 30 crafters and displays will be on hand for the 16th annual Christmas Goose Craft Show at the HeatherRidge Community Center. Back by popular demand, the two day show will be held on Saturday, Nov. 11, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 12 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Sponsored by the HeatherRidge Umbrella Assn., the craft show exhibits a variety of crafts, including painted sweatshirts, wreaths, baskets, Christmas ornaments, jewelry, wooden items and more. The Gurnee Woman's Club will have a bake sale and will also raffie off a quilt. Each crafter has donated a $10 item to be raffled throughout the day. The HeatherRidge Conservation Club is providing hot lunches.

Country Collections

Country Collections is holding its 10th anniversary show at Harper College in Palatine Nov. 10, 11 and 12. Joliet Cath. gives Carmel the boot from playoffs

At first glance, the difference between Carmel High advancing in the state football playoffs or staying home this weekend was a missed extra point.

Coach Mike Fitzgibbons believes it was missed opportunities which proved costly in a 7-6 loss to Joliet Catholic.

"We had three or four opportunities inside the 30 but did not score," Fitzgibbons said.

Thus, Carmel's season ends with a 7-3 mark while East Suburban Catholic Conference champ Joliet Catholic continues on in Class 4A competition.

Quarterback Nick Yeager found junior split end Tim Roder open in the right side of the end zone for Carmel's score on the fourth quarter's first play. Yeager's extra point was long enough, but wide right and the Hilltoppers survived another Carmel drive and iced the win.

The host Hilltoppers only scored once on this turnover and defense dominated first-round contest. It was on a 4-yard run by Larry Whitgrove for a 7-0 first quarter lead.

"We wanted to shut down their drive play and not let them hurt us with it," Joliet Catholic Coach Bob Stone said. "What hurt us was when they passed the ball. They played a great game."

Carmel found its passing attack after missing on all six first-half attempts.

Yeager, one of nine all-conference players for Carmel, was 10-of-13 for 149 second half yards.

Carmel gained the game's first break as the Corsairs recovered a fumble at their own 25 on the first play from scrimmage. But it was three plays and out.

Joliet Catholic took over at the 20 and on fourth-and-one at their own 38, elected to punt. They gained about 25 yards on the exchange as the punt was fumbled and recovered by the Hilltoppers' Chris Congeloclose. That led to the game-deciding extra point after the Joliet Catholic touchdown.

Carmel had turnover woes its first two second-quarter possessions, but the defense held both times. Dan Potempa recovered a Joliet fumble. The senior was in on at least five stops as well.

Carmel had another chance to drive the football to start the second half and moved inside the 40 of the home team. But a pass on third-and-12 dropped short.

Carmel's defense held as Ryan Paddock made two straight stops, and a punt return by Yeager set up the touchdown.

The game at Joliet Memorial Stadium was the second and final loss for Carmel there. The Corsairs had hoped to "make a statement in the playoffs," Fitzgibbons said.

But it was time to say goodbye to a talented group of seniors led by Yeager and star running back and ESCC offensive player of the year Ruben Rivera on offense and Steve Golebiowski, Aaron Willett and Potempa on defense. They overcame adversity and tied for the school's best regular season record at 7-2.

"I feel bad for the seniors because they did a great job. This is the most disappointing loss," Fitzgibbons said.

Libertyville ousts Carmel, sets for sectional tilt

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

First impressions are usually the most enduring.

After losing a point-for-point battle against Carmel earlier this season, the Libertyville volleyball team put on its determined face in the sectional semifinal and prevailed over Carmel 15-4, 15-11.

"Our biggest goal was to control the defense, and that really set the tone in game one," said

Libertyville Coach Chris Trzyna.

The Wildcats dominated early on as they opened up an unsurmountable 9-0 lead in the first game. Jessica Parsons exploded with a series of blocks and kills to account for four of five points that extended the lead from 4-0 to 9-0.

"In the first game, we couldn't get things going. It's hard to play from behind," admitted Carmel Coach Jo Gerardi.

Parsons combined with Clementine Dougherty and Megan Celba for two more point-making blocks to seal the victory. Jenni Schmidt ended the game with a blazing spike.

Gina Langer and Erin Samolis were able to muster two kills for Carmel after the game was lost, but it sparked some offense for a tougher game two.

Libertyville built a 2-0 lead when Langer nailed a kill from mid court and served up an ace to tie the game. Both teams then battled through 10 consecutive sideouts before Langer tallied a kill and Christine Pietranek caught Libertyville off guard with an ace for a temporary 5-3 lead.

Five more lead changes ensued before an Ann Bauer kill gave Libertyville the 10-9 advantage and the lead for good.

"It got a little intense in game two, but they never lost focus of their confidence," Trzyna said. "Carmel really made us earn our points."

Bauer added another kill to See VOLLEYBALL page C22

Bufano: Baseball is 'fragile' market for fans

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

The drop in baseball attendance during the post-strike year may be a factor of habit.

"People got out of the habit of getting into their car and driving to a baseball game. They found other things to do. Baseball is more susceptible to the marketplace than other sports because you have to wait for something to happen," Ralph Bufano said.

"In Cleveland, Atlanta and a few other places there were big crowds, but there they forgot the cloud of the attitude," he commented.

Bufano believes there are levels of professional players: players who bounce back forth between the minor leagues, journeymen and top of the list, craftsman.

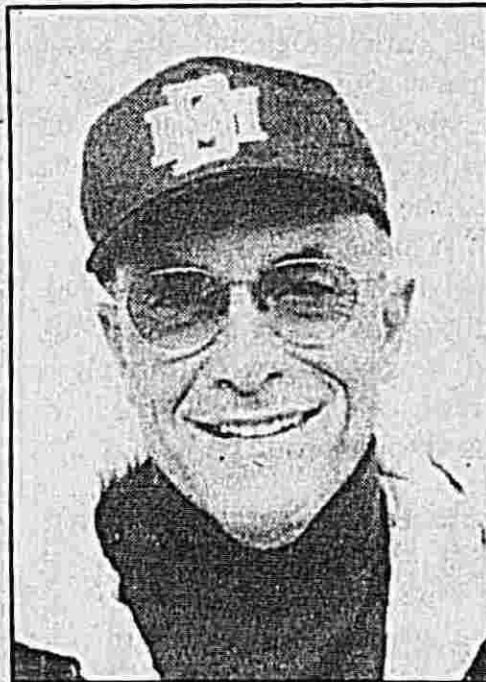

Such examples of the craftsman include Braves pitcher Gregg Maddux.

Bufano, of Waukegan, is a baseball lifer who can remember baseball's roots in Lake County. "It started with pick-up games in Waukegan and moved west," he said.

Bufano has taught hundreds the game his way over the last 40 years. His fall instructional sessions are winding down, but those interested in indoor sessions may call him at 662-6025.

He believes that baseball can recover from its current lull with the sporting public. He agrees the six-game World Series won by Atlanta over Cleveland helps.

"Baseball is a very demanding game. It takes a lot of time to work on individual development. Outfield, infield and catching and pitching all require an idea of how to develop those skills.

For example, it is not just the weakest player who gets "stuck" in the outfield. "The outfielder has to be able to pick up the ball at all times after it leaves the bat and move accordingly. The outfielder is underrated position," Bufano said.

"Each infielder must model themselves as a shortstop," he said. Quickness is a big factor in defensive skills as well as knowledge of footwork around the bases.

Baseball notebook: Among those who remember the worst of times at baseball games at old Municipal Stadium in Cleveland is Dr. Calvin Leader. Leader was superintendent of an Ohio school system before coming back to Warren High this year.

Stellar Stevenson

Stevenson running backs Steve Clancy and Kyle Brandt take a breather during the 48-6 romp over Whitney Young of Chicago in the first round of the playoffs. In other action, the Lake Zurich Bears gained the school's first playoff victory with a 62-14 win over Marshall. Libertyville dropped a 12-6 heartbreaker to Palatine, while Carmel lost by an extra point 7-6 to Joliet Catholic. CLC spikers adjust, earn win

The Olive-Harvey women's volleyball team adjusted to a different kind of net - a longer, bigger variety than they are used to.

The team comprised largely of basketball players gave College of Lake County a challenge before CLC won 15-11, 12-15, 15-11.

"We had to play scrappy defense and be ready for anything," CLC's Carrie Curtis said.

The CLC freshman led the Lancers with 8 kills as CLC won its NJCAA sectional opener. The win gave the Lancers a chance to upend Skyway Conference champ McHenry Oct. 31.

Curtis is a 5-foot, 8-inch outside hitter for CLC after starring at Antioch High.

"I just had to adjust to new people. I had been playing with the same group at Antioch," Curtis said.

"Curtis has come on big time. She was very consistent and keeps the ball in play. She is an excellent server and will be a leader next year," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said.

The Saturday match marked the regional's

No. 15 CLC vs. No. 16 Olive Harvey. McHenry downed CLC in the first match between the two teams in four games.

"We won the first game, but then took a step back and lost the next three, but we like our chances," Garcia said.

Stacey Harrison, a Carmel High grad, had 22 assists and 14 service points. Jodi Botsford, a Warren High grad, contributed 12 points including the final third-game match and 15-of-16 serving.

Rachel Berthlaume, a sophomore from Wauconda, had 8 digs along with Curtis. Stephanie DeGroot did a good job off the bench, Garcia said.

CLC (14-30-3) had a mixed bag in the tournament with N4C league teams. The Lancers lost the regular-season finale to College of DuPage.

CLC lost to DuPage in four games, split with Joliet and Illinois Valley and lost to Rock Valley and DuPage.

Volleyball—Lancers earn rematch give Libertyville game point and Dougherty's kill officially sent the Wildcats to the sectional final against Stevenson Thursday. Stevenson downed Warren in the semi-sectional without the power-hitting Tauja Catchings.

After dropping the first game 2-15, Stevenson rallied to beat Warren 15-13 and 15-10. The winner of the Libertyville (28-10)-Stevenson (35-5-1) sectional title moves on to the Mundelein supersectional.

"It gives us confidence going against Stevenson," said LHS setter Bridgett Fahrner, who had a key block in game two against Carmel. "We have to be there defensively and be intense."

As for Carmel, winners of the Lake Zurich regional, the Lady Corsairs finished the year 22-9 and they defeated every one of their Lake County opponents with the exception of Stevenson and Waukegan.

"The girls have really played well together. They never gave up and never played tentatively," Gerardi said. "We really have a season to be proud of."

College of Lake County's women's soccer team earned another chance at College of DuPage when the Lancers downed Moraine Valley.

The 3-0 Friday win in Grayslake advanced the Lancers to the regional final Nov. 5 at College of DuPage in Glen Ellyn. COD downed CLC in a regular-season match.

Sara Stoutenberg, a Stevenson High School graduate, scored the winning goal on a 30-yard free kick.

Mundelein grad J.J. Ross scored the other two goals, despite a bad ankle.

Violeta Figueroa led the defense.

"The entire team played a very strong defensive game," Coach Mike O'Flaherty said.

CLC moves on with a 6-5 mark.

The men's team was not as fortunate in its post-season opener. The Lancers dropped a 3-1 decision to Moraine Valley.

Kofi Lartey had a goal and Joe Earl had the assist. Shane Hoskins made 12 saves.

The Lancers close the season 11-5-3. They dominated the Skyway Conference with an 8-1-1 mark.
